

Boy in Coma After Bite At Mushroom

A deadly mushroom that invaded the Greater Victoria area this spring almost claimed its first victim yesterday.

Doctors at Royal Jubilee Hospital are fighting for the life of 18-month-old Roddie Walters of 547 Winthrop, Metcheson.

Roddie took two bites from a mushroom he found while playing in his front yard. Minutes later he was violently ill. Then he lapsed into a coma.

"NATIFACTORY"

Hospital authorities reported the boy's condition was satisfactory. He has regained consciousness, but will be kept in hospital for treatment and observation.

"It was lucky I came home from work when I did," said his father, Daniel Walters, a millworker.

Mr. Daniels rushed the youngster to Victoria city police station by car. From there, the police ambulance conveyed the boy to hospital.

VIOLENT SICKNESS

"I don't usually come right home from work," said Mr. Walters.

This time he decided to go right home.

There he found his wife treating young Roddie, who was violently ill.

"I thought at first he had an upset stomach, but his sickness was so violent, I decided to investigate."

The older children told him the boy had been playing alone in the front yard.

FOUND MUSHROOM

"I went outside to where he had been playing and I found this mushroom. It had several bites out of it."

"I phoned the doctor and he told me to rush Roddie to hospital."

At the hospital, provincial biologist Dr. Adam Szczawinski identified the mushroom as the type classified as Panther Agaricus.

WARNING REPEATED

He repeated the warning he made in the Colonist April 16. "Once again I would warn the people of Greater Victoria to closely check lawns and wooded areas. These mushrooms should be destroyed and children warned not to touch them."

He said a small amount of the mushroom was sufficient to bring death.

Push Atlantic Trade Pearson Tells Nation

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Canada should take the lead in developing an Atlantic free trade area and not allow herself to be frozen out of overseas markets by isolation from the European free trade area, Liberal Leader Pearson said Wednesday night.

Canada cannot get out of its difficulties without expanded markets, he said.

"This is one area where we should show leadership. We should be at the forefront of an Atlantic development," he added.

High Cost of Bosses Union Answer to Clyne

If soaring wages cause unemployment, as MacMillan, Bloddel and Powell River chairman J. V. Clyne recently claimed, then Mr. Clyne must be the "greatest single cause of unemployment in this province," a top union official said here last night.

E. P. O'Neal, secretary-treasurer of B.C. Federation of Labor, said in three years Mr. Clyne's salary has jumped from $19,000 as a Supreme Court judge to $75,000 a year he now earns—three times as much as the prime minister of Canada.

B.C. School Textbooks Hail 'Our' President

VANCOUVER (CP)—While no Canadian prime ministers are mentioned in some textbooks required in British Columbia schools, "our" Civil War and "our" president rate coverage.

This has come to light through a series of surveys conducted by various agencies as parents and educationists expressed growing concern about United States-produced textbooks in B.C. schools.

An independent survey submitted to the Chant royal commission on B.C. education, came up with the following:

- No Canadian prime minister is mentioned in a Grade 10 history text.
- A Grade 6 social studies text says India has a viceroy.
- Spellers used in Grades 7, 8 and 9 show a marked difference in spelling from accepted Canadian practice.
- A Grade 11 text entitled "Representative Short Stories" contains 15 stories by United States authors, and the remaining seven by British, French, Danish and Swedish writers.
- A Grade 9 geography textbook says Ocean Falls receives less rain than Victoria.
- Another social studies book speaks of the U.S. president as "our president."
- A history text called "Our World, Renaissance to Modern Times" mentions "our own war between the states," a grand jury system not used in Canada and gives extensive coverage to the Second World War but mentions only two British generals against four Americans.

The books are prescribed by the B.C. education department. A department official has said American texts are carefully screened and revised before they are published in Canada. But a submission to the Chant commission said of "Our World": "Nowhere in the text is there any hint of criticism of U.S. policy. The implication would seem to be that from its inception the U.S. has been motivated by the truest altruism in all its dealings."

"All of the U.S. actions take place on a high moral plane. They are justified by the highest motives in an unerring instinct of right."

The Chant commission recommended that the department of education consider producing its own textbooks if those supplied by commercial publishers are not improved.

U.S. ASSURES VIET NAM OF ACTION IF NEEDED

Armed Force Promised

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy's meetings with the National Security Council have confirmed his decision to do whatever is necessary to help South Viet Nam win its undeclared war with Communist guerrilla invaders, authoritative sources reported yesterday.

Kennedy has sent assurances to South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem that the United States is prepared to order its armed forces into action if that finally should become necessary.

The possibility that South-east Asia Treaty Organization forces might have to aid Viet Nam also has been discussed here and at SEATO's Bangkok headquarters. But officials emphasized this was not a proposal for immediate decision.

Military Aid Boosted

Steps to help South Viet Nam, which borders troubled Laos, are being taken however.

U.S. military aid to Diem's 150,000-man army is being increased by about $40,000,000 with emphasis on planes, river boats and other transport.

The objective is to increase the army's mobility in fighting the hit-and-run forces and intercepting their supply and troop reinforcements from Communist North Viet Nam.

U.S. Rejects Risk

Kennedy's policy decision, according to officials, amounts to a rejection of the idea that the United States should not risk involvement in a jungle war on the periphery of the Communist empire while Soviet power remains intact.

Kennedy was said to be particularly determined to take a strong stand in dealing with the Communist threat to South Viet Nam. He wants to reassure America's small allies and warn the Communist bloc that the story of Laos will not be repeated elsewhere in Southeast Asia.

The president's position was described as a determination to back up U.S. promises to help defend small nations which want to defend themselves.

This key ingredient has been missing in Laos. More over, that country's geographic position made a neutral compromise the best available choice. But administration officials reject India's view that neutralism is the road to peace for all South-east Asia.

Balloon Men Soar Today

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI)—The U.S. navy hopes to send two "sub astronauts" to a height of 116,000 feet above earth today in a 411-foot polyethylene balloon. It will go aloft from the aircraft carrier Aetna in the Gulf of Mexico if weather permits.

The small, open gondola will be manned by Cmdr. Malcolm Ross and Lt. Cmdr. Victor Prather.

'Canada's Record Not So Clean On Racial Policy'

Canadians must never take a sanctimonious attitude of virtue when it comes to condemning South Africa's racial policies, Dr. Hugh Keenleyside told a joint meeting of the men's and women's Canadian Clubs here yesterday.

"We have never — and we should be thankful for it — been faced with the kind of problem that the white settlers of South Africa have had to meet," he said. "If we had been our response might have been no better."

WITH REGRET:

Dr. Keenleyside, chairman of the B.C. Power Commission and former director-general of the United Nations technical assistance administration, said South Africa's decision to withdraw from the Commonwealth had to be accepted by the other Commonwealth members.

"We do not, of course, know all that went on at the meeting of the prime ministers in London last March," he said. "But I do hope and believe that our representative there did what he had to do with regret and with no sanctimonious professions of Canadian virtue."

NOT ENVIABLE

Canada itself did not have an enviable record.

"Our record in dealings with our own Indians has many dark passages," he said.

"And can we be really proud of our immigration policy which maintains almost insurmountable barriers against persons of color, even when they are citizens of Commonwealth nations?"

"Can we honestly suggest that our clubs and better residential areas are open on equal terms and without protest to all our people regardless of color, race or religious affiliation?"

"For social purposes in Canada it is more acceptable to believe in no God than to worship God under the wrong auspices. And if your skin is dark you can be banned from a Canadian hotel, although it is legal, even if you are Dr. Ralph Bunche," he said.

Labor Gets Racial Plea

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy asked labor leaders yesterday to end union restrictions that discriminate against Negroes.

He made the appeal at a meeting of union officials called by his committee on equal employment opportunity. Kennedy appealed Tuesday to 50 of the nation's biggest defense contractors to drop racial restrictions in hiring and promotion.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

HOW many people are working? Fewer than you would think, said my friend W.A. Scott on the telephone.

"What are you leading up to?" I asked suspiciously.

"I have a sign in my window, about the working force in the United States," said Victoria's "lighthouse philosopher," who has his salon among old pipe-wrenches, typewriters, radios and trombones in the back of his second-hand store on Broad Street.

"Let's hear about it, then," I said.

"It's not—ha! ha!—wholly original, but it's—heh! heh!—food for thought."

"Go on, go on," I urged him.

"I'll read it," he said. "There are 160,000,000 people in the United States. Sixty-two million of them are over 60. This leaves 44,000,000 to do the work. Twenty-one million are employed by the government. This leaves 23,000,000 to do the work. Ten million are in the armed forces, which leaves 13,000,000. Twelve million, eight hundred thousand claim they work in state or city offices. That leaves 200,000 to do the work."

"There are 126,000 in hospitals and asylums. That leaves 74,000. Sixty-two thousand of these are bums, trade-union officials and lawyers, who traditionally shy away from work. That leaves 12,000."

"There are 11,998 people enjoying leisure with security in jail, which leaves two people to do all the work, and that's you and me, brother. Is it any wonder I'm getting tired of doing everything myself?"

"Is that all?" I asked.

"It says, 'donated to the lighthouse philosopher by his overworked sister.'"

"I guess you know it's full of holes," I said.

"Oh, well, it's just a joke," Bill replied. "Many a true word in jest. You know my sense of humor, ha! ha!"

"I know it," I said. "But look, there's something wrong with your arithmetic. You've mislaid some people somewhere. You've mislaid—let me see—54,000,000 people."

"Fill in your own figures," Bill said. "It's the idea that matters."

"No, no, you can't just write off 54,000,000 people like that. Better check the arithmetic."

"I'll phone you back," Bill said.

A few minutes later I heard from him again.

"You're right," he said. "I forgot about 54,000,000 people under 21."

"Some of them work," I said. "Some people over 60 work civil servants work. Soldiers work. Sailors and airmen work. Lawyers and union business agents work."

Bill Scott, who maintains a feud with the legal profession, gave a snort of disbelief. This was my first intimation that he counted union business agents along with lawyers among the drones.

"Here's another thing," I said. "I've been looking up the population of the United States. It isn't 160,000,000. That's out of date. It's 177,000,000 now. But I shouldn't spoil the joke with facts, eh?"

"Oh, no, that's all right," said Bill Scott, in a tone that implied that he was prepared to tolerate a fact or two, as long as it was offered by a friend.

"You forgot to count the unemployed," I said.

"In the last story I read, there were 5,000,000 people unemployed in the United States, and out of that number, they feel that 2,000,000 are permanently unemployed because of coal mines closing down, and such troubles."

"Well, you know what I mean," said Bill Scott.

"Oh, yes," I acknowledged. "I suppose I do."

Sideswipe Draws Liquor Charges

Three men were fined $50 each, and one of them an additional $35, when they appeared in Sooke police court this week on charges involving liquor and driving.

Fined were William Mathias Collins and Joseph Shepherd both of Victoria, and Robert Harry George of Sooke, all for consuming liquor in a public place.

Collins was given the additional fine for careless driving.

Police said the car, driven by Collins, sideswiped another vehicle driven by teenager Wendy Gibson of Sooke at Saseenos.

Collins' car continued along the highway and was found soon after by police parked by the roadside with its three occupants drinking beer.

Court was told Collins' car was on the wrong side of the road before striking the girl's car.

HEAVY ATTACK

The first evidence of Communist bad faith came in the Van Hin Heup area 50 miles north of Vientiane where a local cease-fire had been in effect since Monday. Communist Pathet Lao troops opened a heavy mortar attack on the government command post there Tuesday night.

The offensive in southern Laos near the borders of Communist threatened South Viet Nam came hours after Radio Peking and Radio Naoi broadcast the cease-fire appeals by the Communist leaders. The main attack was against Muong Phalane, 60 miles east of Savannakhet in southern Laos.

Cause for Doubt

THE STRONG—almost uncompromising views—held by a number of our political leaders that Canada should join the Organization of American States call for careful examination in the light of recent events in Cuba.

For some 70 years Canada has been subjected to pressures of one kind or another to accept membership in the organization. True, for many years the invitation has been offered with some diffidence as nothing more than a gesture of goodwill from the various signatory nations.

However, since the end of the 1939-45 war the request has assumed an air of demand and urgency—particularly when delivered by the United States.

Obviously the OAS is simply an association dedicated to maintaining peace and promoting the welfare of the inhabitants of the North and South American continents from Alaska to the Argentine. In meeting its primary goal, the OAS has, until recently, set a fine record in preventing possible causes of conflict between the member states and in re-affirming its purpose of taking joint action in case of aggression against any member country.

Nevertheless the complexion of Latin American internal politics has greatly changed in the past ten years and in many eyes the OAS has adopted the more militant attitude of a military alliance. Sides have been taken within the organization itself and the ideological rift between the pro-Western and anti-Western Central and South American nations—who, incidentally, make up the majority of the membership—can no longer be ignored.

Already the anti-Western states—not to be confused with out-and-out Communist nations—are using the same old cry of "tool of imperialism yanqui" against the OAS that destroyed its earlier operating agency, the Pan-American Union.

It is quite clear that at present any member of the OAS—innocent or not—is suspected by his neighbor of belonging to one camp or the other. The idea that any nation could belong to the organization and at the same time follow an independent line is something so far beyond the understanding of the signatories so far the majority it is impossible.

It is into this atmosphere of distrust and would-be power politics that Canada is being invited. Both the Liberal leader, Mr. Lester Pearson, and the likely leader of the yet-to-be-formed New Party, Premier T. C. Douglas, demand that Canada accept. External Affairs Minister Howard Green, though keeping an open mind on the subject, is not nearly so anxious to involve us in such an alliance. He has stated more than once that Canada would consider joining the OAS when the majority of our people were in favor of it.

His reasoning is good. Canada has never stood in higher esteem among the Latin American countries than she does now. Diplomatic representation has been established in all but five of the Central and South American republics and indications are that our trade with Latin America as a whole is increasing.

It would be wiser to leave things as they are rather than walk blindly into a web of intrigue and distrust and be forced into further commitments which could well be incompatible with our responsibilities to the UN, NATO, NORAD, and the Commonwealth.

Eyes on the Profit

IT IS amusing to note how envious eyes have been cast on the ferry surplus announced by Premier Bennett. A profit of some $800,000 over a nine-month period is a pretty hefty gain and very pleasant news; it is not exactly a horn of plenty.

But differing agencies rush in to get a share of the profits. One suggestion is to start another ferry service, this time from Sooke to the Olympic Peninsula; another is a cry for lower juvenile fares; still another is that the profit should be diverted to tourist promotion.

Nothing succeeds like success and so two new ferries are to be built to amplify the present fleet. This is progressive and taking full advantage of the favorable travel climate which the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen system has created.

The momentum could slacken in the years ahead, however, and with the hourly service envisaged it is reasonable to assume all four ships won't always be filled to capacity. And the running expenses will be that much greater.

Wise husbandry would therefore set this first surplus aside against any possible decline in future revenues, and add to it as favorable conditions continue.

The School Bylaw

WHEN the ratepayers of School District 63 go to the polls on Saturday, common sense and common responsibility can lead them, we believe, to vote only one way: for the school construction bylaw.

On one hand, they can vote for what appears a most practical and economical program. On the other, they can vote to continue to deprive children of the district (and an increasing number) of proper educational opportunity, and in doing so can devalue their own property.

More than 600 children in the district are now attending school on "swing shift," to the detriment of their learning, and many more are studying in overcrowded classrooms. In activity rooms and in sub-standard rooms. This situation, had enough already to make a prospective purchaser think twice about property in the Saanich Peninsula district, is growing worse.

To correct it, the school board proposes a minimal program chiefly consisting of adding classrooms to elementary schools and constructing a new high school, devoid of frills, where the greatest number of children can reach it without transportation. The ratepayers will pay only one-quarter of the $675,000 cost.

Three previous bylaws have been defeated largely because of dissatisfaction with the province's school cost-sharing formula and, in some quarters, with the whole education system. But the experience of these three bylaws has shown that a protest in this form is not only useless but worse: it hurts only the district and its children.

Under these circumstances, it will be commendable if the ratepayers on Saturday lay aside any regional selfishness and any petty objections to details and empower the school board to get on with the provision of adequate but not fancy facilities.

My kingdom for a horse. Even if it weren't a Dobbin he wanted, cried a monarch on a certain doleful day for him. The cry in other guises is being echoed in Victoria. And with happier results, one hopes.

Keep Queenie, our own particular Dobbin who adds to the pastoral quality of Beacon Hill Park. So runs the popular refrain. If Queenie knows her friends she will wag her ears pleasantly.

Queenie is only a horse, of course, and while horse-power has become the criterion of mechanical strength and movement the horse itself is by way of being shunted to the sidelines. A horse as a traffic vehicle on downtown streets is almost a greater wonder than a spunk.

Perhaps we should ponder this.

At least a wise man said some time ago: "Wherever man has left his footprint in the long ascent from barbarism to civilization we will find the hoof-print of the horse beside it."

And further, that in early civilizations the states in which the horse was unknown remained longest sunk in savagery.

We owe a lot, then, to the likes of Queenie.

But it's said about Beacon Hill's Dobbin that she's too expensive. Just imagine, she eats all of a dollar's worth of oats a day and she does only half the work of a tractor.

Well now. Forgetting that the annual civic budget is around nine million dollars a year—logic and fantasy don't run in harness—let's think about Queenie's extravagances. A truck would cost about $3,000. I suppose, but if as they say it's double the workworth of a Dobbin let's eat that in half and call it $1,500.

Fifteen hundred dollars would buy a lot of oats. Queenie consumes $365 worth a year, so the city wouldn't save any money until nearly five years had passed.

And this without reckoning the kind of oats that a tractor consumes by the gallon, and the repairs that keep a machine in running order. Queenie never needs any monthly lubrication, remember, nor does her gear shift ever need replacement.

A Dobbin is not really to be despised, you see, even in an era of spacemen and motor scooters. As you can see she's actually the cheapest from the standpoint of cost.

If she could speak, too, Queenie might put in a claim for prior possession. The geologists tell us that the horse preceded man on earth by many ages. It's true such claims are apt to be ignored nowadays—compare an old and a new atlas—and possession goes to the man or nation wielding the biggest stick.

And horses can't wave sticks. For all her patient and sturdy virtues Queenie probably couldn't stand a collision with a truck. But still, recall the hoof-prints that have accompanied the footprints. A tire tread isn't half so attractive.

There she strolls, our own fond remaining civic Dobbin, adorning the park as no spluttering gasoline machine ever could. She blends, she belongs; and she has ten years' service to her credit.

A pastured pension, surely, is more her due than a glue-pot.

And so, gentlemen of the aldermanic board, have a heart.

Remember what that monarch cried: "My kingdom for a horse." Dobbin doesn't want a kingdom; just her daily ration of oats and to be left alone to work and dream of happier days.

Is that too much for even a horse to ask?

Fun, Fact and Fiction

A young couple were just leaving the church after the ceremony. As they sped away, the groom relaxed, stretched and yawned, smiled at his new bride and said:

"Now honey, about that nonsense of your quitting your job."

A wife complained bitterly to her pastor about her husband. "The fellow I married can't drink and can't play cards."

"Are these faults?" asked her pastor. "I wish more of our young men couldn't drink or play cards."

"You don't understand," continued the wife. "My husband can't but he does."

Washington Calling

By Gerald Waring

A View from Ottawa

THE trouble in Cuba has given new urgency, at least in the minds of political leaders here, to the old question of whether Canada should become a member of the Organization of American States.

An old question it may be—but it can no longer be decided on the old reasons for and against Canadian accession.

Latin America is no longer a collection of weak, ineffectual banana republics and petty dictatorships under Yankee dollar domination.

It is an area in political ferment as between a degree of democracy it has not previously known, and export Communism from Castro's Cuba. It is to benefit from the new American "Marshall Plan" of aid for economic development.

An important objective for our Communist adversaries is its separation from the United States and the West ideologically, economically, militarily, and politically, especially at the United Nations.

As Prime Minister Diefenbaker said in the Commons recently, the government here is deeply concerned over Communist domination of the Cuban government, and the Communist leaders' obvious hope to use Cuba as a springboard for leaps to power in other Latin American countries.

He did not answer the question of what, if anything, his government is able and willing to do about it. But Liberal leader Pearson suggested last week that "perhaps the time has come for Canada to take its responsibilities as a member of the Organization of American States."

Pearson made the comment in the foreign affairs debate, a day after Foreign Minister Green had wondered aloud in the same debate whether Canada's refusal to join the OAS was putting this country in a position of isolation in the western hemisphere.

But Green did not believe Canada should join the OAS until there was strong manifestation of public support for such a move.

This left me wondering whether Green was not putting up a balloon—in effect asking for expression of public opinion. For while governments like to give leadership, they also want to be sure the direction in which they are leading is the direction in which the people want to be led.

A possibility in Canadian membership in the OAS at this time is that it might give Canada a stronger voice in determining how the countries of this hemisphere are to prevent the spread of Communist political control through Latin America, and destroy the Communist bridgehead in Cuba.

The U.S. could turn its military might against the Castro regime and in a matter of hours free Cuba from Communist control. Reliable reports in Washington state this course is under active consideration.

Or the U.S. could try to persuade the members of the OAS—eight of which have already broken relations with Castro—for collective decision and action to end the danger. If Canada believes unilateral U.S. action would be a mistake with irreparable world-wide consequences for "our side," then Canada might give the OAS as a means of giving Canada a more effective voice in the solution of this and other hemispheric problems that affect Canada.

From Arabs' Viewpoint

By H. A. R. PHILBY, from Cairo

VIEWED from Cairo, one of the greatest and certainly most articulate of neutralist capitals, this April proved a black month for the West.

Following swiftly on Major Gagarin's space flight came the Cuban fiasco, then the threat to French unity posed by the revolt of the ultras in Algeria. Egyptian propaganda is having a succession of field days, the most conspicuous feature of authoritative comment being the forthright manner wherein the United States is now being cast for the major role as villain of the piece.

This tendency has been perceptible for several months past, but it is now obvious to all. Muhammad Hassanin Heykal, editor of the Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram, who is regarded as one of Nasser's principal spokesmen, has just published a 3,000-word article comparing Cuba with Suez, in which he contrived to omit all reference to Britain or France by name.

Cairo's acclaim for Gagarin's exploit was not warmer than that accorded him by many Western capitals, but it was accompanied by open jubilation at the Russian spectacular victory over America in the space race.

In an acid reference to President Kennedy's youth, Heykal remarked that Gagarin had devoted his youthful energies to the conquest of space while Kennedy had turned his to crushing small people struggling to be free. Thus in Cairo's eyes, the image of the Soviet Union as a young giant putting its resources to peaceful purposes is in sharp contrast to the persisting image of America as the oppressor of small neighboring countries.

The American case—that the Castro regime is a brutal dictatorship of a small minority—not only finds no defenders, but is brushed aside as if it did not exist.

By contrast, reports from reputable American newspapers and agencies roundly accusing the Central Intelligence Agency of direct responsibility for the invasion attempt are given wide publicity and are implicitly believed.

It was a coincidence that Marshal Tito was touring Egypt on a state visit at the time of the Cuban raid. But the joint communique issued at the end of his discussions with President Nasser, though couched in polite terms, leaves no doubt about the dismay and anger felt by both neutralist leaders when the news from Cuba reached them.

The communique records that they "reached most regretfully the conclusion that these acts are an attack against Cuba's independence. We therefore renew the expression of our countries and our peoples' resentment of these acts and deep concern over them. We are fully aware of the great shock which these recent events have given to the world and are confident that all peace-loving nations will rally round the standards of sanity, decency and rule of law in international relations."

Short of downright rudeness, the condemnation of American action could scarcely have been more complete.

Farcical Tragedy

By MARQUIS CHILDS

IN THE bright spring sunshine of prosperous, flourishing France the memory of the horror of last week is rapidly being erased. And among those Frenchmen who have been most pessimistic about the future of this deeply troubled country it is being said that the spectre of Fascism for France has now been laid to rest.

It is a spectre that has long hovered on the horizon, nourished by deep discontents and frustrations as the grandeur of the empire of the past has grown dim. It is tempting to the outsider to ascribe the farcical tragedy of the general's rebellion that began on a Saturday and ended on a Tuesday to the fact that this is a Latin country, that the French have never been able to govern themselves, that temperament will always tell—the critical lags so easily applied.

But a closer look leads to a more sobering conclusion. The case of France is the case of the West in extremis. The rebellious generals who sought to overthrow the government of General de Gaulle could find their match—in attitude, at any rate—in any John Birch chapter in the United States.

They rebelled because they believed that de Gaulle, by making peace with the Moslem leaders, would turn Algeria over to the Communists with the great French investment in money and effort that has gone into that colony. By the simple way of force they would take over the government and prevent this from happening. The incredible naivete of this view led them into an adventure based on miscalculations so absurd that they should have been apparent to a sixth-grade schoolboy. The French, incidentally, are not reluctant to point out the miscalculations of the American adventure in Cuba.

The defeat of 1946, the feeble futile governments that fell with monotonous succession after 1945, the loss of Indo-China, Tunisia, Morocco—all this led the smouldering fires of frustration and resentment that three times in the past three years broke out in military insurrection with the support of extreme right wing elements.

The wonder, if one examines the record, is that the long pent-up explosion has not been more violent and more widespread.

If the war in Korea had gone on for more than six years and if during all that time we had continued to pour out blood and treasure, then we would have some idea of the reaction of the military and for that matter of many civilians in France to the war in Algeria that has pinned down up to a half-million Frenchmen. After all this, the generals asked, are we to give up Algeria?

General Maurice Challe, who sits in Santé Prison awaiting trial for his life on the charge of treason, is a perfect example of the delusion that force can hold back the tide of change. For Challe was, if not the principal author, then one of the chief instigators of the greatest piece of postwar tragedy in the history of the French Empire. He was one of the few who saw that de Gaulle, himself a general, had been manoeuvring so painstakingly with all the complex elements involved to try to bring peace to Algeria, recognizing that only through a peaceful solution is it possible to prevent chaos—and communism—from taking over not only in Algeria but perhaps in all of North Africa. What is more, de Gaulle has successfully helped to initiate the independent statehood of a number of France's former African colonies, foreseeing that any other course would be disastrous.

In the aftermath of the collapse of the putsch de Gaulle's "great victory" is being hailed. Certainly he stood with courage and firmness and used the limited resources he had with skill. But when a great nation is thrown into a panic by a few paunchy generals, backed by a limited number of "elite troops," and when the loyalty of virtually all the military and the security forces is uncertain, victory seems a strange word to use.

A front-page editorial in the ordinarily sensible Le Monde says, in effect, that young President Kennedy can come to Paris at the end of May to learn some lessons, in view of the Cuban fiasco, from the great de Gaulle and it would well behoove young Mr. Kennedy to follow the de Gaulle line.

If one of the consequences of this latest upheaval is to encourage de Gaulle in his "no Russians" course on NATO, the United Nations and in other vital areas, then the general's revolt will rank with Huey in folly.

Black Month for the West

By H. A. R. PHILBY, from Cairo

Western observers often express puzzlement at the depth of anti-American feeling developing here since the United States has no record of direct imperialist rule in the Middle East and, furthermore, stood firmly by Egypt during the supreme crisis of Suez. The source of the trouble is the persistent misunderstanding of mid-eastern conflicts in high circles in America.

First and foremost comes American support for Israel which is both substantial and more vocal than support from any other source. This, alone, may cause a fatal obstacle to Arab-American understanding for many years to come.

Second in Arab minds is the long period during which the United States government under Mr. John Foster Dulles' inspiration rejected the whole concept of neutralism as a possible basis for a sincere foreign policy. This rejection appeared humiliating in itself and led to such acts as the withdrawal of the offer to finance the Aswan Dam, couched in terms which Egypt considered insulting.

Next on the list come specific acts of American intervention in Arab affairs—such as financial intervention in Jordan to bolster an anti-Nasserist regime in 1957, then military intervention in the Lebanon, again in support of an anti-Nasserist regime, the following year.

Although American policy in the Middle East appears to have evolved in the past two years towards accepting neutralism and Nasser himself as

Not Surprising

The letter "Driving Terrifying" by a writer from Manitoba is not the first of its kind and one has also heard several verbal comments from visitors to B.C. about the deplorable habit of keeping right up against the centre line.

Your correspondent asks, "Why don't the police educate the public?" I cannot recall any report of a prosecution under the appropriate sections of the Highway Act, so perhaps action by the police would have a salutary effect.

As for education, surely the law should be made clear in the very beginning by including it in the official "B.C. Guide to Safe Driving."

Furthermore, I have on three occasions seen student drivers under instruction travelling at slow speeds in the centre of the road while other cars lined up behind them! Taking all these points into consideration, it is not surprising that the selfish and dangerous habit of centre-line driving is so prevalent.

Civil Defence

Mrs. W. Burchill has stated the case for civil defence and evacuation in case of war in clear and certain terms. Here is someone with actual experience. Let us take the lesson she is trying to teach us. Only those of us who have been bombed and bombarded know what it means.

If nuclear war comes, as it may very soon unless the U.S. and Russia change their attitude, there will be no need for evacuation and nowhere to go. I admire President Kennedy but feel he is on the wrong track.

If democracy is what it purports to be, why fear communism? We must each prove our worth and we each have the right to live as we wish. I am not a Communist, but we can each learn from the other.

Peace First

It seems to me the politician who said he would rather live with communism than die for capitalism was a sensible man.

Since governments have always made peace, here, before, after a war, how would it be this time, to put the cart before the horse and make peace before the war.

The issue of peace or atomic war to the writer at age 66 is of course little more than academic interest. But to people who have 30 or 40 or 50 more years to go and with dear little children the issue should be of some concern.

'Queenie'

Professionally a top man and belonging to the 20th century, parks superintendent W. H. Warren naturally thinks in terms of mechanical power vs. "Queenie"—a horse of distinction!

We know she costs money but would Beacon Hill be the same without her? The children have the same interest in a truck which is lifeless and without flesh and blood? For "Queenie" is more than this, in fact, is alive with the spirit of the ages. Without her like, where would man be today? Chained to a stump.

If the cluster lights, inanimate too, deserve saving surely "Queenie" should stay!

And with due respect to the mechanics of today—is sentiment dead? Who could enthuse over, "A truck, a truck, my kingdom for a truck!"

The position taken by the parks superintendent is understandable and appreciated, yet sentiment is a living force and not to be despised. Least the quality of mercy be strained by material considerations detrimental to the soul.

Canadian Economy Sagging

MONTREAL (CP) — N. R. Crump, president of the CPR, said Wednesday the Canadian economy has failed to keep pace with changes in the world economic climate.

He told shareholders at the company's annual meeting that emergence of a highly-competitive international economy is to be welcomed rather than deplored.

"Our present difficulties stem not so much from changes in the world economic climate itself, as from the failure of the Canadian economy to keep pace with these changes."

Canadians, he said, should re-examine the implications of a public policy responsible for the relatively larger role of state enterprise in Canadian economic life.

Railway Talks Resuming

MONTREAL (CP) — Union and management leaders are ready to resume top-level talks in an effort to avert a nationwide rail strike called for May 16—but there is little reason at present to suppose they will have any success.

Japan, Europe Threaten Our Trade

OTTAWA (CP) — Trade Minister Hees warned Wednesday that Japanese and Western European products are displacing Canadian goods on world markets in "increasing quantities."

He told the Commons these countries—once Canadian customers—now are giving Canada its toughest trade competition since before the Second World War.

'FOLLOW EXAMPLE'

"We must do things a whole lot differently than we are doing them at present, if we are successfully to meet and overcome that competition," he said.

The best way to make Canadian products competitive is to follow the example of the competitors, Mr. Hees said. "They did it by co-operation between management, labor and government to bring costs down and improve quality and design."

'FULL EMPLOYMENT'

"The result can be full employment, and not the second highest but the highest standard of living in the world," Mr. Hees said.

Mr. Hees spoke at the Commons resumed debate on the trade department's spending estimates for the fiscal year that began April 1.

He recalled that the government trade commissioners who returned to Ottawa for De- member's trade-promotion conference, attended by 1,100 firms, guaranteed sales in their territories if the companies would travel there with samples of goods competitive in price, quality and design.

However, there had been many efforts where the commissioners aboard had opened up sales but the companies in Canada had not "carried through by providing samples and price lists."

OPEN FEELINGS

But if you know horses, you can pretty well interpret their feelings by the way they act.

Queenie was quietly demure as she listened to her reprieve. She had that air of injured dignity... the look of one who has been wronged and vindicated.

Her head bowed, she surveyed a fellow that had lost its winsome charm in the service of the city.

A touch of moisture was evident at the corners of her large brown eyes.

"I'm very thankful to all those people who rallied to me in my hour of peril," she managed to convey to her questioners.

"I'm sure I've done my best all these years... it was a blow to realize that one is not indispensable," a sob wracked her bony shoulders.

Queenie was surprised to be visited by the press.

AWFUL LOOK

"Dear me, I must look a sight," she whinnied.

Asked for a statement, she thought for a minute then, tossing her chestnut hair proudly.

"It's nice to know automation can't replace loyalty and affection..."

Taxing 'Outside' Realtors Backed by Island Councils

NANAIMO — Vancouver Island mayors, reeves and aldermen Wednesday decided to seek re-introduction of a pay-as-you-ask scale of fees for non-resident real estate agents.

Meeting here as the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities, the delegates from Victoria to Campbell River unanimously approved a resolution seeking the licensing of agents, as proposed by Saanich council, to go before the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

The resolution pointed out that under the 1961 Real Estate Act, municipalities cannot obtain fees from real estate agents unless they have a business in the municipality.

Municipalities Seek Cut Of Sales Tax, Car Fees

NANAIMO — Island municipalities will ask the UBCM to press the B.C. government for a "fair percentage" return on revenue from sales tax, car licence fees and gasoline tax. Oak Bay resolution said there is a desperate need to broaden sources of municipal revenues, currently limited to property taxes and minor fees.

Grandson of Douglas Colonel Harris Dies

A Victoria native son and grandson of Sir James Douglas, Lt. Col. James Chichester Harris died suddenly at his home at 902 Heywood yesterday.

He was born in 1881 in a two-storey home on the Douglas estate on Elliott Street and was the last survivor of seven brothers and sisters born there.

His father was Dennis Reginald Harris, a civil engineer. His mother was the youngest of the Douglas daughters.

FROM RANKS

During his military career he rose from the ranks to command the old 5th B.C. Regiment and was second in command of the 47th in New Westminster which was mobilized in 1915.

Colonel Harris returned to the service during the Second World War to command the 5th Regiment of the Royal Canadian Artillery (reserve). Apart from military time spent overseas he lived his entire life in Victoria.

He spent some time in the sand and gravel business and owned a gravel pit at Albert Head. His company supplied some of the materials used in the construction of the Hudson's Bay Company building and the Empress Hotel.

He was an official in the Esperanza Mine at Alice Arm

More Pay Urged For Jurors

NANAIMO — Persons summoned for jury duty may be in for a better rate of pay if the provincial government follows the recommendation of Island municipalities.

Members of councils yesterday agreed to seek a "more realistic sum" as a result of pressure from municipal unions asking employees to make up the difference in lost wages.

Saanich Loses Bid to Elect Police Boards

NANAIMO — A Saanich resolution calling for return to direct election of police commissioners was turned down by Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities meeting here yesterday.

Equihalt Reeve Alfred Wurtel said the resolution, previously thrown out by the Union of B.C. Municipalities, would mean an independent police commission, over which councils would have no control on spending.

Saanich Coun. Joseph Casey asked, "Why do we elect a reeve and council or a school board? We have no control over school spending."

Equihalt Coun. James Bryant said municipalities should have a representative on school boards for a degree of control.

NOT OVER YET

However, the mayors, reeves, aldermen and councillors who represented their municipalities at yesterday's meeting still face council ratification.

Reeve Chatterton urged the delegates to get going on the matter as soon as possible because 1962 is expected to be a key year for Vancouver Island with the Seattle Century 21 exposition nearby.

COST CAUTION

Although delegates went along with forming a united body, they exercised caution during the lengthy discussion of costs.

Some delegates were wary that their municipalities would be asked to pay too much.

Others thought the cost should be arrived at on an assessment rather than a per capita basis.

ONE POINT

Reeve Donald Morton of North Cowichan gave the impression at one point that his municipality would have nothing to do with the joint effort.

When the vote was taken to decide if the municipalities should weld their tourist promotion efforts together, Reeve Morton was the only delegate heard uttering an audible "no."

VOICES DOWN

He later said "there were a few others against—but they kept their voices down."

He said his municipality had voted against a joint venture "and there was nothing else I could do when it came to taking the vote."

Casanova Book Swiped

LONDON (AP) — Someone has swiped "The Memoirs of Casanova" from the Commons library.

The Commons library committee reported that the chronicle of the 18th-century lover was one of 450 books that disappeared from the vast library last year.

It added that "serious works on sex" are kept safe under lock and key.

Everyone Pays, Per Capita

Island Municipalities Join In Push for Tourist Trade

NANAIMO — Vancouver Island municipalities yesterday joined hands and jumped into the tourist promotion business.

Twenty-six voting delegates of the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities agreed after a two-hour meeting on tourism to:

- Work as a combined unit to bring tourists to the island.

- Pay the shot by taking each municipality on a per capita basis.

- Approve the per capita amount for each municipality.

- Appoint the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau as its spending agent.

- Name its executive committee to represent municipalities on the bureau.

Reeve George Chatterton of Saanich, retiring association president, said several municipalities have already made their contribution.

"We shall get cracking this year. So long as we have at least 75 per cent of the municipalities, we can operate."

ACT AS UNIT

"We must act together as a unit to promote the tourist business."

Some of the costs to municipalities, on a per capita basis,

He added that, as the municipalities had banded together, North Cowichan will probably pay its $716 contribution.

Reeve Chatterton said the amount of money required from municipalities is about $13,000. Should $10,000 be raised, the provincial government will match the amount.

For the benefit of the more cautious delegates, Mayor Percy Scourrah said, "Victoria is not going to hog the thing."

'Brainwashed' U.K. Diplomat Gets 42 Years for Spying

LONDON (UPI)—A British diplomat "brainwashed" by his Communist captors in the Korean War pleaded guilty Wednesday to spying for Russia ever since. He was sentenced to 42 years in prison—the stiffest such penalty ever imposed by Britain in peacetime.

George Blake, 48, said to have been one of the "bright boys" of the British Foreign Office, appeared in the Old Bailey. The prosecution said he had given the Russians a mass of "very important" information in nine and one-half years of thorough espionage.

'FULL CONFESSION'

Attorney-General Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller told the court that the suave diplomat made a "full confession" after his arrest in Beirut, Lebanon, three weeks ago. He quoted Blake as declaring in a statement:

"I must freely admit that there was not an official document of any kind to which I had access which was not passed on to my Soviet contact."

'SERIOUS DAMAGE'

"In short," the attorney-general said, "he has for the last nine and one-half years been engaged in betraying his country. . . . He has done the most serious damage to the interests of this country."

It was the second big spy case in Britain this year. In March five persons—including a Russian, two Americans and two civilian employees of Britain's key Portland naval base—were convicted of operating a spy ring with direct links to Moscow. All received prison terms ranging from 15 to 25 years.

A foreign office spokesman said Blake was serving as vice-consul in Korea when invading North Koreans captured and interned him in July, 1950.

STRONG VIEW

Blake was released by the Communists in April, 1953, and came home to a hero's welcome in England. The prosecution told the court he voluntarily began betraying Britain in 1951, apparently while in Communist hands.

London press reports said

Blake was brainwashed in Communist captivity.

The attorney-general said "his philosophical and political views underwent a change and in the autumn of 1951 he held a strong conviction that the Communist system was a better one and deserved to triumph."

Eichmann Not a Killer Wife Claims in Note

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—Mrs. Adolf Eichmann has sent a letter to Israeli attorney-general Gideon Hausner claiming her husband never ordered the death of any Jew but "was merely in charge of emigration."

A copy of the letter was made public by Klaus Eichmann, the couple's eldest son.

Grim Testimony

Eichmann Sees Slain Tot's Shoes

ZIVIA LUBOTKIN . . . beyond belief

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—A tiny pair of crumpled brown shoes was presented as evidence Wednesday during a heart-wrenching testimony at the trial of Adolf Eichmann.

Women in the public gallery wept as witness Dr. Adolf Abraham Bermann held up the shoes before the court and said they represented "a million children" murdered by the Nazi regime during the Second World War.

TERRIBLE SCENES

Bermann, a leading member of Israel's tiny Communist party and brother of former Polish government minister Jakob Bermann, described how 10,000 children were exterminated in Warsaw under a genocide program that Eichmann is accused of masterminding. Bermann said he will "never forget the harrowing scenes and the blood-curdling incidents, when the SS men seized children roaming the streets by force and put them in cars."

Bermann told the court he visited the death camp at Treblinka a few weeks after he was liberated by the Soviet army.

SKULLS SCATTERED

"I saw a tremendous area of many kilometres over which were scattered skulls and bones and heaps of shoes," he said.

"Among them the shoes of thousands of little children."

"I have brought one pair from the fields of Treblinka. It is very precious, for it represents a million children."

POWER FAILS

Bermann's testimony came after a surprise interruption in the trial, caused by a power failure which plunged the windowless courtroom into darkness.

Spectators gasped and police stood tensed for action in case of any move against Eichmann was attempted during the few minutes the lights were out.

Massive Police Swoop Seeks Riot Evidence

JOHANNESBURG (UPI)—

Thousands of armed police men raided homes of whites and Africans throughout South Africa Wednesday in a move to block major demonstrations against the government.

Observers said the raids were the most intensive police operation in the Union's history.

Most South Africans were bewildered by the massive swoop. The police sought subversive documents, and no arrests were reported.

Opposition groups believed the raids were intended as a show of force to eradicate any plans for anti-government demonstrations later this month. There have been reports demonstrations were being prepared to coincide with South Africa's formal emergence as a republic May 31.

Only explanation came from police Lt.-Gen. H. J. Duglooy, who said the raids were "an investigation into various forms of crimes and suspected crimes being carried out on a country-wide basis."

Congo Rout

Bodies Of 24 Found

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—A high United Nations source said Wednesday that bodies of 24 Ghanaian UN soldiers—apparently shot or beheaded after capture—have been found in the river at Port Franqui where Congolese soldiers routed the outnumbered UN garrison in a weekend battle.

STILL MISSING

Seventeen other Ghanaian UN troops still were missing following the fighting at the Central Congo town and little hope remained they would be found alive.

The bodies recovered in the Kasai River at Port Franqui raised the known death toll to 27 in the battle between hundreds of Congolese troops and several score UN soldiers.

PRESUMED DEAD

Also missing and presumed dead are two British officers with the Ghana force and two Swedish officers who were on observer duty at Port Franqui.

Ghetto Shock

Witness Weeps

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Mrs. Zivia Lubotkin wept at her memories when giving evidence at the Eichmann trial Wednesday.

She told how the 500,000 Jews, crammed like cattle into the Warsaw ghetto in the first years of the Nazi occupation, were reduced to 60,000 by 1943 as a result of deportations and executions.

When a man slipped into the ghetto and told what was happening in the extermination camps, no one would believe it at first, she said.

"We could not comprehend that the Germans would declare war and extermination on an entire race," she added.

Vast Links with Alaska Seen In Group's Report to Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—A plan for development of transportation in Northwestern North America was adopted Wednesday by the Alaska International Rail and Highway Commission.

A vast rail and highway system connecting Alaska with the other continental states will be proposed in the commission's report to Congress in about two weeks.

LONG STUDY

The report is based on more than three years of study into expected development of Alaska and Northwestern North America and the area's transportation needs.

Roads Planned Across Canada

The $325,000,000 program would include railroad and highway construction across Canada and improvement of existing routes.

The report also recommends effort "to insure growth, modernization, efficiency and stability of the merchant marine which has long been and will continue to be an essential transportation mode for North-west North America."

Along with the report, resolutions will be introduced to Congress asking the president to initiate negotiations with Canada on co-operating development and to direct government departments and agencies to start work toward carrying out the recommendations.

Inefficiency Pays Off in Navy

OTTAWA (CP) — A serviceman wanting to leave the armed forces can get a better pension deal if he's dismissed for inefficiency than if he resigns voluntarily, Deputy Defence Minister Elgin Armstrong says.

His statement to the Commons public accounts committee caused lifted eyebrows. Paul Hellyer (L-Toronto-Trinity), former associate defence minister, said he is appalled by the idea that a serviceman would benefit by doing something to get himself dismissed.

The committee was questioning the award of a $2,732 pension to a 38-year-old navy officer dismissed last year for inefficiency following an unexplained shortage of funds under his control.

Auditor-General Maxwell Henderson said $1,700 was involved. The officer was concerned in a similar shortage of funds in 1957.

Mr. Armstrong said the officer was originally awarded a pension of $1,438 under the rule providing for a half-pension for persons retired for inefficiency.

But the treasury board, exercising its discretionary authority, increased this to a 95 per cent pension based on the number of years of satisfactory service he had given.

PNE Sports Centre To Cost $2,500,000

VANCOUVER (CP) — Construction will begin this year on a $2,500,000 agricultural and sports building at the Pacific National Exhibition, Premier Bennett announced Wednesday.

Indications were that the building, with seating capacity of between 8,000 and 9,000, might be ready for agricultural shows early next year and for hockey by the fall of 1962.

The premier made the announcement as he declared open the second B.C. International Trade Fair, which has attracted exhibitors from 37 countries to the PNE grounds.

The move comes after years of hassling over whether such a structure should be built at the PNE before a large coliseum is constructed in the downtown business area. A committee is still studying the possibilities for a downtown structure seating 14,000 or more.

The premier pointed to $30,000,000 in international exhibits as proof of the confidence of other trading nations in the stability of B.C. and in its trading potential.

At the same time he said an atmosphere of trust and friendship in all trading activity is imperative in the modern world.

"We must trade to prosper," he said. "We must trade to employ our people and expand our economy. And to do these things we must establish, not just here in B.C. but in Canada as a whole, a climate in which trade can flourish and will flourish on a global basis."

Unions Asked To Finance Court Fight

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Federation of Labor is asking all its affiliates to contribute money to a union that is going to contest in court a section of Bill 42, the amendment to the Labor Relations Act.

The Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union has started suit in Supreme Court against Imperial Oil Ltd. to test the validity of the section of the bill requiring unions to sign a declaration they will not use dues money received in a check-off for political purposes.

Paddy Neale of the Vancouver Labor Council said the test could go to the Supreme Court of Canada and cost $35,000.

Port Renfrew

Community Solid For Breakwater

The community of Port Renfrew is rallying solidly behind the proposed construction of a harbor breakwater to provide safe anchorage from storms that lash Juan de Fuca Strait.

A drive is underway to bombard Ottawa with at least 50 letters from local businessmen and residents expressing criticism of the present lack of harbor facilities and urging speedy action on the "vital" breakwater project.

SEVEN GROUPS

The letters will be sent to Public Works Minister David Walker who last week heard a brief from seven Island groups dealing with need for a breakwater.

The brief said the project would provide safe facilities for loading of iron ore from a $3,000,000 mining development planned by Noranda Mines Ltd.

In addition, it said, new stands of timber worth $4,000,000 a year could be logged and a safe harbor could be provided for fishboats.

A spokesman said in Port Renfrew yesterday lack of harbor facilities for fishboats at present forces fishermen to crowd into an anchorage at the mouth of the nearby Gordon River, making it difficult for a lumber company to move its log rafts.

'Whoopers' Go North For Summer

Saanich Farmer Silent Over Mysterious Signs

Several unusual signs which sprouted this week on the Wilkinson Road fence of a Saanich farmer's property have his neighbors buzzing with curiosity.

One neighbor said she saw a sign bearing a large, red-colored hand on the property of T. Byron MacNutt, 4143 Wilkinson. Pointing toward the hand was an arrow on another sign which stated "The federal government was caught."

She said a driveway was blocked by another sign which read, "Well, J. G. D."

Other neighbors declined to comment. So did Mr. MacNutt, who said he is sending a letter to Prime Minister Diefenbaker and it would be premature to discuss the matter now.

Air Cargo Centred In Winnipeg?

The newspaper says Winnipeg will be the central clearing point as it was when Canada's railway network was set up.

The study will come under the Committee on Manitoba's Economic Future announced at the recent legislature session to determine measures necessary to bring economic development to the maximum, said Industry Minister Gurney Evans.

Shot from Floor Fails to Score

Vics Lose Opener, 9-3; Fans Fume at Officiating

By JIM TAYLOR

If there was one thing apparent after last night's Inter-City Lacrosse League game at Memorial Arena, it was that somebody goofed in determining just how tough the officiating was going to be this season.

About 2,000 Victoria fans got their first taste of the get-tough policy while watching New Westminster beat the will run away from the rest of the league.

Couch Archie Ferguson of Vics is one who must have been wishing fervently for a power play last night. His young club, with 10 players starting their first senior season, lost any chance they might have had because their odd-man play wouldn't work.

Understandably nervous and over-anxious, Vics had two goals scored on them while they had the power play going, and couldn't beat Les Norman once in a stretch of seven minutes, 30 seconds in the fourth quarter with the extra man.

But the debut could be counted a success from several standpoints. First, the fans apparently like the looks of the new club. Secondly, although there was disorganization in spots, there was enough promise in others for Ferguson to say he was reasonably satisfied with the result.

"We missed plenty of good chances because we were too anxious," he said. "We out-shot them, 36-29, and Les Norman had to be awfully good at times to stop us from scoring."

All the scoring was done in the first three quarters. Jack May, getting the first of his two goals on a pretty shift around his check, gave Victoria a brief lead, but it was 6-2 at the half, and each time Vics looked like they might break out a penalty-killed the opportunity. Billy Munroe got their other goal to start the third quarter.

As for New Westminster, they didn't look nearly as impressive in their third straight victory as reports have indicated to be. Norman was a standout and some of the rookies looked good, but the overall effort wasn't anything for coach Jack Byford to be excited about.

Rookie Mike Gates, Jack Howse and Ken Oddy had two goals each, and Billy Jobb, Ron Loftus and Cliff Sepka got the others.

Tonight Vics travel to New Westminster for their second start. Ferguson did not announce any lineup changes.

Pitcher Hits Heroic Homer To Go With No-Hit Effort

Johnny Knowles struck out 7-2 in an American League 15 batters on his way to a Little League baseball game no-hit pitching job for Kins at Jaycee Park last night. men, who defeated Pattersons Behind 2-0 in the third inning, because of walks and errors. Knowles hit a grand-slam homer to sew up the game.

CURLING CROSSROAD: The Duncan Curling Club, which rents the curling rink from the Cowichan Co-operative Curling Association for five months each curling season—November through March—is faced with quite a problem, and the only answer may be the construction of needed new facilities.

The Duncan club has been paying $8,000 for its five-month tenure of the five-sheet rink. It's all the club can afford, but the rental is being increased and Duncan curlers are faced with quite a problem.

The C.C.C.A., it is reported, at first requested an increased rental of $12,000 for next season and suggested the alternative of purchase, the asking price of $100,000 to be spread over 20 years with no interest charges. The club countered with an offer of $33,000, to be paid in three years.

"We would have to put on a new roof and tear up and rebuild the floor," an official said. "We don't think it is worth any more."

"And," he added, "we also need new rocks." As matters stand now, the Duncan club has been offered the building for a full year at a rental of $14,500, the club to pay all operational costs and retain all revenue. If the offer is rejected, the C.C.C.A. proposes to take over year-round operation of the rink and use it as it sees fit.

Curling club officials feel that rental and operational costs for a year will total an absolute minimum of $20,000, and believe that there is no chance whatever of enough other revenue to keep curling costs even close to the $8,000 they have been paying.

Curling club members meet next Thursday to discuss the problem, and there is a strong feeling that something should be done as soon as possible to provide their own curling facilities.

"We should go ahead and get some land and put up a building to house an auditorium and a new curling club," said one. "Curling has no future under present conditions."

FUTURE BOOK: While on the off-season subject of curling, what could be the rink to beat in next season's provincial playdowns has been formed, and it scored a win in its first test.

That's the lineup lined up by Vancouver's Lyle Dagg, who has Leo Hebert set as vice-skip, Fred Britton to throw second rocks and Barry Naimark to lead. Hebert has long been one of the better shotmakers in these parts, Britton was perhaps the strong man on the rink Dagg led to a zone win this past season, and Naimark was the skip of the 1958 B.C. championship rink. If it's as good on ice as it is on paper, it'll be good.

Also ready for next season is Fred Duncan, skip of last season's Island champions. He has lined up Harvey Dodge for vice-skip and Gary Merritt to throw second rocks, keeping only Pat Ryan, last season's vice-skip.

COULD WIPE OFF: The brave new look sported by the Western Hockey League is by no means any permanent expression as yet.

Things cleared up considerably for the playless Vancouver Canucks yesterday when Premier Bennett announced that construction would start this year on a new building for the Pacific National Exhibition which will give Vancouver the modern ice arena it has so long needed. But there are still problems elsewhere before any start can be made on the dream of eventual parity with the National Hockey League.

San Francisco for next season is still uncertain. There appears to be about a 50-50 chance that ice-making facilities can be put into the Cow Palace in time. If San Francisco has to suspend operations for one season even before it started, it means a jump from Portland to Los Angeles and the loss of the natural San Francisco-Los Angeles rivalry. And if Los Angeles should fail to prove the bonanza expected San Francisco might decide that there is no use coming in the following season.

And there might yet be a problem in Winnipeg although that club seems ready to carry on. Other clubs are not happy about that long trip to Manitoba and it will surprise if there isn't some heated agitation in some quarters when it comes time to affirm a schedule. The WHL is likely to find that the rainbow comes only after rain.

A DUD FROM BUD: Bud Poile, manager of the Edmonton Flyers, is quoted as saying Portland Buckaroos, who almost perfected coach Hal Laycoe's ideas of defensive hockey, were the worst road show in the Western Hockey League this season.

Well, the Buckaroos did play it close to the vest and the Flyers, as always did play it wide open. But, there, Bud's logic ends. Portland drew well enough on the road because it was a contending club, the Flyers attracted little interest as seventh-placers. At home, where the Bucks broke all existing attendance records, there was no comparison. And the Flyers have been talking about next season for a month, the Buckaroos are still playing.

GUESSING DEPARTMENT: Seattle-Totems to take the lead in the Western Hockey League final. In today's major league baseball, the Yankees, Tigers, Orioles, Giants, Dodgers and Phillies. Batting average to date: At bat 121, hits 79, percentage .653.

REGINA

Dust-covered cars, led by a Jaguar driven by Jim Wells and Frank Berry, of Victoria, rolled into this Saskatchewan capital just after midnight last night, completing the Winnipeg-to-Regina leg of the first annual cross-Canada car rally.

They start out for the next overnight stop, Calgary, this morning, then tackle the Rocky Mountains Friday and halt for the night at Pentecost.

The slide-rule boys had just figured out how the rally should when it reached Winnipeg. Under the rules, crews are handed sealed instructions at the start of each day's run and must follow the prescribed route at precise average speeds. Penalty points are assessed for each minute late or early at dozens of secret check points along the way.

When the cars left Winnipeg for the 400-mile haul to Regina, Sam Nordell of St. Martin, Que., and Tony Wilson, Dorval, Que., were still driving their factory-entered Volvo with a perfect score.

They were closely followed by two-time Canadian winter rally winner Homer Trotter of Watertown, N.Y., and Bob Mollman of Bedford, Ohio, in a factory Mercedes-Benz sedan. W. Dodd, Amherst, Ont.

Two Grand Slammers Spark Toronto Eighth

TORONTO (UPI)—Defending champion Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League laid claim to a world record today as they drubbed the Jersey City Giants 15-3 in their home opener.

Two Leaf players belted bases-loaded homers in the 10-run eighth inning, a feat believed to be a record in professional baseball.

Playing coach and catcher Tom Thompson blasted the first grand-slam, then with driving a Porsche, led in the sports cars under 1,600 cc and H. R. Loutin, Montreal, driving a Jaguar, led in sports cars over 1,600 cc.

John Roome, Duncan, driving a Jaguar, was 47th in the overall standings. Bob Low in a Corvair, was 60th, Dr. Michael Penn, in a Jaguar was 75th and the 1937 Rolls-Royce, driven by Ivan Holloway of Port Alberni, was 84th. Wells was 93rd.

PITCHERS BLASTED
In between Friday and last night, the Braves started guys named Burdette, Buhl and Nottebart, the first two well rated, and gave them 16 runs. The Braves lost by 7-3, 14-4 and 11-9 with opposing batters hitting 16 home runs.

Going for the Braves, in addition to Spahn, is what is shaping up as a real pennant fight. Despite their pitching woes, they are still only two games behind the leaders.

PIRATES BEATEN
The leaders this morning are the Giants, who moved in with an 8-4 win over Chicago Cubs when St. Louis Cardinals knocked off the defending champion Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-1.

Over in the American League, nine clubs were taking uneasy glances at the champion New York Yankees, who made it six wins in their last seven games as they pulled into a first-place tie with the Detroit Tigers.

Bob Turley, going the distance for the first time in a six-hit show to gain his third victory in four decisions, breezed by Minnesota Twins.

Spahn Rolls Along Pitches Two-Hitter

Boston Braves weren't badly off after all in the days when someone neatly summarized their plight by writing "Spahn and Sain and pray for rain." In Milwaukee, home of the present-day Braves, they are saying "We'd think it bonnie if we still had Johnnie."

But Johnnie Sain's pitching days have long since been over and Warren Spahn is, literally, going it alone at Milwaukee. Lately, he's been all the Braves have.

Spahn pitched last Friday, and he needed his no-run, no-hit effort to beat the San Francisco Giants, 1-0. His turn came up again last night, and he was never safe until the late innings against the Los Angeles Dodgers, a club he hadn't beaten in three years and the only club which holds a career edge (now 30-15) over him.

ANSWERS CHALLENGE
Spahn answered the challenge with a two-hitter, won, 4-1, and lost his shutout to a wind-blown pop which fell for a double.

It was his third straight decision after an opening day loss, and the 29th of his 17-year major league career. And he had three hits and scored two runs to help win it.

Alberta Starts Insurance Fund

Happier Hunters, Farmers

By PHIL ADLER

EDMONTON (CP)—Alberta, happy hunting ground for thousands of sportsmen, has moved to placate the unhappy farmer who loses money through an abundance of wild life.

This year hunters will pay a special $1 fee into an insurance fund when they buy their provincial licence. The fund will be used to compensate farmers for crop losses caused by game and migratory water fowl.

NOT SATISFIED

Some farmers, however, are not satisfied. They want an insurance fund to cover livestock killed by hunters. This demand found some vocal support from both sides of the legislature last month but an attempt to set up such a fund failed.

Strongest opposition came from Lands and Forests Minister Norman Willmore, who represents a big-game area and is responsible for administering the Alberta Game Act.

BY HOODLUMS

Farm animals, he said, are not killed accidentally by hunters; they are killed deliberately by hoodlums. He didn't think hunters should have to help pay for damage by these hoodlums.

Farmers who didn't want any hunting on their land scored a victory four years ago when the legislature gave legal status to "no hunting" and "no shooting" signs on private land.

EVEN OWNER

Land posted with "no hunting" signs became a game sanctuary because even the owner isn't permitted to shoot.

This year the legislature scrapped the posting law. Although there were prosecutions—the number is not known by provincial game officials—authorities felt the posting law was too difficult to enforce. There also were suggestions that the law could not stand a court test, though it was never challenged during its four-year life.

CRIMINAL CODE

The law now says hunting on private land is forbidden without permission of the owner occupant. Prosecutions will be made under the trespassing section of the Criminal Code.

Under the new insurance plan, farmers who want crop protection against damage by migratory waterfowl, deer, elk, moose and bear will take out an insurance policy and pay a premium.

Farmers will be able to insure for a maximum recovery of $10 an acre. They will pay a premium of five per cent of the insured total, making the payments no higher than 50 cents an acre.

The government hopes farmers' contributions will cover the cost of administration and hunters' fees will cover the cost of claims.

Deficits will be met from the provincial treasury.

A resident of the province now pays $2.50 for a licence to hunt birds and $5 for a big-game licence. The $1 insurance fee will be additional.

Hunting while impaired by alcohol or drugs now is an offence under the Game Act. Penalties range from $10 to $300.

Another new rule deals with young hunters. Children between the ages of 14 and 16 must have their application for a hunting licence signed by a parent or guardian and must be accompanied by a parent or guardian when hunting.

Field Day For Fours At Laurel

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—System bettors who play the No. 4 at the race tracks had a field day at Laurel's meet-closing program Wednesday.

Horses carrying "4" on their saddlecloths won six consecutive races, from the second through the seventh events.

The string started with Legal Gain, a $17,600 winner in the second race.

Countess Celeste, the only favorite in the No. 4 streak, paid $5.00 in winning the third race. The others, in order, were: Friendly Jester, $7.80; Sally Tip, $13.80; Ample, $7.60; and Lady Angora, $11.20.

Carry Back Camp Confident But Sherlock Biggest Fear

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—A field of 15 appears likely for Saturday's running of the $125,000 added Kentucky Derby with Carry Back tabbed as the "one to beat" by most of the men who will run horses against him.

Jack Price, the outspoken trainer of Carry Back for his wife, Katherine, confidently agrees with them. Price has personally narrowed the field down to six horses which belong in the Kentucky Derby; three of them, he figures, have a good shot at the first of the triple crown classics, but there is only one he "fears."

Carry Back, Crozier, Sherlock, Carry Back, Crozier, luck, Ambioise, Globemaster and Dr. Miller are the only probable Kentucky Derby starters with enough class to deserve a chance at America's greatest racing prize, price believes.

THREE-HORSE RACE

This, he thinks, would turn into a "three-horse race" among Carry Back, Crozier and Sherlock with Sherlock the colt which could give Carry Back the most trouble.

Four-and-Twenty, Flutterby, Ronnie's Ace, Light Talk, On His Metal, Loyal Sox, Jay Fox, Dearborn, and Bass Clef also are scheduled to run in the 57th Kentucky Derby despite Price's personal opinions about their worth.

Injun, a $38,000 yearling owned by the Red Oak Stable of Joseph Brunetti of New Jersey, was withdrawn Wednesday when he turned up with "bucked shins."

SECOND CHOICE

After Crozier beat Four-and-Twenty in the Derby Trial, setting a new track record, Crozier became second choice to Carry Back in the long-range Derby odds.

"We beat him (Crozier) three times in Florida and we should beat him again," said Price. Chuck Park, trainer of Crozier, countered with, "He got us three times. It might be our turn to get him."

The longest priced horse in the field may be Bass Clef but trainer Tony Rupelt is as confident of Bass Clef as Price is of Carry Back.

SO IS JOCKEY

"And so is the jock," chimed in Ronnie Baldwin, who will ride Bass Clef, which finished tenth in the Blue Grass Stakes, beaten 20 lengths by Sherlock. "I don't know what Brooks (Jockey Steve Brooks), was thinking about, letting him drop as far out of it as he did. But when Bass Clef got running he turned in some pretty fast fractions. A lot of people are going to be surprised about here Saturday," Rupelt claimed.

Rupelt admits that it takes Bass Clef a while to settle down to running. But he quickly points out, "Bass Clef has the longest stride of any horse in the race and he can eat up the ground. He goes so easy-it doesn't look like he is running at all."

Mrs. Vera Smith, who bred Bass Clef at her Cold Spring farm near Davison, Mich., stood by.

"OH, TONY"

"Oh, Tony," she would exclaim each time the trainer made strong claims for the horse. She has wanted a Kentucky Derby starter for a long time. Her heart wanted to believe Rupelt but common sense would not let her hopes get too high.

But if the gracious lady dreamed of roses she didn't dream alone. So did the owners of 13 other expected starters. Price just wants the money, a winner's purse worth $117,500 with 15 starters.

With the exception of the Alberta farm entry of Four-and-Twenty and Flutterby, all riding assignments are set. Johnny Longden has a choice of one of the Alberta pair with Henry Moreno on the other. Longden said he may not make up his mind until the last minute.

TRACK RECORD

Johnny Sellers again rides Carry Back with which he won the Flamingo Stakes and the Florida Derby this year. Braulio Baez rides Crozier who set a track record of 1:34.5 in winning the derby trial Tuesday.

Eddie Arcaro, Kentucky Derby champion with five winners, rides Sherlock for the first time, with Bobby

Tougher 'Bobby' Helmets Just the Thing

"Bobby" helmets—the new type, that is—would probably be the most practical headgear for Victoria policemen.

This new slant on an old argument was advanced last night by Chamber of Commerce president Aubrey Kent.

"I can understand the viewpoint of the policemen—they don't want to get all dolled up just for the tourists," he said.

"However, the new type of Bobby helmets are lighter and more comfortable than the ones we used to have for our police."

"A policeman, in the course of his duty, is liable to attack or a blow on the head. The new helmet affords a measure of protection to him."

He conceded the bobby helmets "would be a tourist attraction," but said he was basing his comments "on the fact that the helmet is a practical headgear."

Mr. Kent, who is chairman of the chamber's tourist group, said police opposition to the switch to helmets was probably based on their memories of the old type.

The proposal to revert to the helmets has met stone-wall opposition from members of the police force.

Police union spokesman Const. Lorne Shandley said: "We made our feelings known on this point last year. It still stands."

Union members, who managed to have the helmets dropped in 1948, have negotiated a special clause in their working contract calling for no change in uniforms.

Many feel the helmets lesssen the efficiency of the force.

Said one: "After all, the police department is a public safety force. The helmet tends to create a comic opera atmosphere and doesn't help in maintaining public respect."

He added that the first consideration should be the efficiency of the force, rather than "their attraction to tourists."

But Only on Voluntary Basis

Help New Party Candidate Labor Council Asks Unions

Victoria Labor Council last night set up machinery for receiving voluntary donations and offers of help from trade unionists on behalf of New Party candidate Glen Hamilton in the May 29 Esquimalt-Saanich by-election.

At the same time delegates agreed on a new policy for the council regarding political action. It will in future provide information on political matters only to those affiliated local unions and individuals that request it.

There was no repetition of stormy scenes on the floor of the labor council meeting a month ago when delegates first discussed withdrawal of three strong unions involved in the dispute over political action. No debate was held as last night's resolutions dealing with political matters were passed.

Following the meeting, V.L.C. secretary-treasurer A. W. Toone told the Colonist he believed the new council policy removed all bars to the return of the disaffiliated unions.

He felt there could be no further objections either on the part of unions that considered the council had been taking direct political action or, as in the case of the I.W.A., not enough political action.

He said, however, a special three-man committee was seeking an early meeting with each of the unions that withdrew to explain the council's newly-formulated policy on political matters and to invite them to renew their affiliation.

Steps taken by the meeting included:

• Appointment of William Gauld, Canadian Labor Congress representative on Vancouver Island, as temporary head of the V.L.C. political education committee. The position had been vacant for some time and delegates endorsed the action of V.L.C. president Robert Barrie in appointing Mr. Gauld so that support could be enlisted for the New Party in the by-election, just three weeks off.

• Endorsed a request from Mr. Gauld to all local unions affiliated with V.L.C. enlisting "sincere and voluntary contributions to the election of the party and candidate that will best represent their interests in Ottawa." The letter also called for volunteers to distribute New Party campaign literature, drive cars on election day and spread word of mouth support for Mr. Hamilton.

• Approved a resolution to the effect that the council's political education committee under Mr. Gauld would be responsible for collecting the cash donations and assigning volunteer workers to their tasks in the by-election campaign.

Plunges Off Sidney

Ferry Steward Quickly Rescued

A 30-year-old ship's steward was saved from the swirling tidalwater of Active Pass yesterday in a dramatic air-sea rescue.

Gerald G. C. McDonald, 631 Langford, was pulled from the water half an hour after he plunged from the after deck of the B.C. government ferry Mv. Sidney.

CLUNG TO ROCK

McDonald was found clinging to a rock near the Galiano Island shoreline by the crew of an unidentified cabin cruiser from Boundary Bay.

Taken to Rest Haven Hospital at Sidney, he was reported to have recovered from the physical effects of his immersion. He was taken to hospital for psychiatric observation.

First alarm aboard the ferry was sounded when a passenger saw McDonald plunge from the afterdeck.

The rescue was witnessed by more than 600 passengers aboard the Sidney and the Mv. Tsawwassen.

The two ferries had met at the eastern entrance to Active Pass. The Sidney was inbound to Swartz Bay and the Tsawwassen was headed for the mainland.

LOWER BOATS

Both vessels lowered boats, then circled the area, searching for McDonald.

Meanwhile, a radio message was sent to the RCAF's 121 Search and Rescue Flight at Sea Island. An Albatross flying boat landed and took McDonald to Patricia Bay. McDonald was suffering from shock and exposure.

The mishap, first of its kind since the government ferries went into operation, delayed the arrival of the Sidney by 30 minutes.

University School Corps

General Lauds Cadet 'War'

Through battle-smoke drifting across a Richmond Road slope a figure crept, rifle in hand. He rose to one knee, raised rifle to shoulder, then suddenly screamed, clutched his stomach, rolled over and lay still.

Within 10 minutes half a dozen of his fellows had joined him, stretched out or curled grotesquely on the now quiet green hillside close to University School.

Beaming approval, several score friends and relatives looked on.

ANNUAL INSPECTION

This was a notably realistic "battle scene" enacted yesterday by the 17th University School Cadet Corps (Canadian Scottish Regiment) as a feature of their annual inspection.

This was only one phase, although perhaps the most colorful, of the afternoon events at the school.

The entire inspection was carried out with military snap and precision that drew favorable comment from the inspecting officer, Gen. Charles Foulkes.

BUGLE SOD

Under command of C-Capt. Thomas Rigos of Seattle, the 115-member cadet corps and its bugle band won approving nods from veterans of all services present.

Cadets demonstrated their ability in company marching, rifle and precision drill, map reading, breech gun work, signals, radio communication, first aid and field craft.

URGENT NEED

The cadet corps includes more than half of the school's total enrollment—an enrollment growing to a point where old graduates are pressing a campaign for a $140,000 addition

Defacing Deplored

Socreds to Replace Smeared Poll Signs

Social Credit officials are waiting today for new signs to replace 14 along the Patricia Bay Highway which were defaced overnight Tuesday.

The signs, which read "Vote for George Hahn," were smeared with black paint, leaving only the words "Vote George."

'DISAPPOINTED'

"I am not interested in getting into a controversy over signs," Mr. Hahn said last night. "I am disappointed to think that an effort is being made to make an election issue of such matters of no consequence."

"Surely the electors of Esquimalt-Saanich have a right to be represented by people of greater stature than that?"

'STRICT ORDERS'

Mr. Hamilton commented: "Well, my name isn't George. We have given strict instructions to all our workers not to interfere in any way with any other party's material."

David Groos, Liberal candidate, agreed with other candidates in deploring the vandalism.

"But it is good to see there is no shortage of signs in use as replacements," he added.

"I hope they catch the culprits and I hope they make a federal case out of it. If so it will be the first genuine federal issue that any of the opposing candidates has come up with in the by-election so far."

Reeve George Chatterton, Progressive Conservative candidate, said: "I don't like those signs, but I don't think that is the right way to express disapproval."

"These signs disfigure the beauty of the countryside enough by themselves without making it worse by splashing paint on them."

"I decided long ago not to use signs like this anywhere in the riding because they spoil the natural charm of the area."

Salvage Ruled Out For Sunken Barge

A barge will be blasted off with an explosive charge.

The barge, 80 feet long and 32 feet in beam, sank in minutes after an 11-ton propeller crashed through its deck and pierced the bottom timbers when a steel cable broke while it was being lifted onto the deck of one of the Liberty ships. No one was injured.

ITB's deepest tugboat Cambrion Salvor sailed from Saanichon Bay late yesterday with two Liberty ships bound for Japan where the obsolete merchantmen will be broken up for scrap. Four of the Second World War vessels remain at the moorage in Saanichon Bay where they are being readied for the long tow.

He said four obsolete Liberty ships at anchor in Saanichon Bay will be removed before steps are taken to prevent any possible menace to navigation resulting from the wreck. It is likely the boom of the 25-ton derrick on the Bonner's Gift Boomerangs For Lubras or Liberals?

SHARP REPARTEE: When the next session of the legislature rolls around Attorney-General Robert Bonner will be able to get in some good blows... If Mr. Speaker Hugh Shafts will let him.

The Australian government has presented Mr. Bonner with some boomerangs — those wooden V-shaped instruments the aborigines use to knock off a kangaroo, the odd kookaburra or perhaps even a lubra who's been getting a bit lippy.

DOWN GRADED: We hate to shatter any illusions Premier Bennett may have but... The other day we had occasion to point out that a big black and white autographed photograph of President John F. Kennedy had been added to the premier's collection... something arranged through mutual friends.

But the story we get is that anyone can get a photo of the president just by writing.

COMPLAINT DISMISSED:

A city woman sparked a police investigation this week after protesting that a newspaper had clipped the crossword puzzle from a weekly newspaper she had asked for.

This is pretty serious business. The clerk admitted the puzzle had indeed been clipped from the paper... but the facts as outlined by the complainant were not quite accurate.

The paper was a week old and was being given away not sold. The newspaperman said he had refused to give her a copy after she complained about the missing puzzle.

The whole thing "puzzled" the police.

They just put it down to quaint old Victoria.

PAUSE THAT REFRRESHEN:

During his speech to the joint Canadian Clubs meeting yesterday Dr. Hugh Kennedy asked members if they had heard the story of the Scottish widow who had just received $30,000 for the loss of her husband.

The widow turned to her banker and said: "You know, you may not believe me, but I'd give $20,000 of this to have him back."

Peter Bruton's Capital Notebook

BRICKBAT CORNER: Two readers have come forward in defence of the income department. Seems that both had a larger refund sent them than they themselves had estimated — which is nice to know.

SAM LANE: mine host of the Hide England Inn, said the tourist trade group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce had fought vigorously to defend and preserve the clusters but that city council had "waited until our backs were turned" and the group was visiting California before making that later-to-be-reversed decision.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: All my married life I've worked hard to help my husband in his business. When he was employed by an ice company I sat home day and night answering the phone and taking guff from the customers. When he was in the moving business and his helper didn't show up I helped him load and unload the truck. Now he has a restaurant and I work as a waitress.

A few months ago he decided to hire a second waitress which I didn't think we could afford. She's a green-eyed, red-head and he calls her "Doll." All the work she does you can put in a thimble and still see pretty good. I told him to get rid of her and he said: "She's a drawing card and the customers like her."

It seems to me that people come to a restaurant for good, clean food. The Door show they can get in a night club. Am I right? If you don't agree, please don't answer. I've got plenty of trouble now. — WORK-HORSE WIFE.

Dear W. M. W.: If you continue to nag your husband to fire the red-head he may get the crazy idea that you're jealous. Do this instead: Tell her and him what she is expected to do. If she is so busy being a drawing card that she doesn't do the job, tell your husband that he will have to do it.

Dear Ann Landers: Your apology for "Public Pluckers" was inadequate.

Sure, some people who are friendly will brush dandruff off your shoulders and pick threads off your suit. But the majority of people who have the habit aren't doing it because they want you to look neat. They are self-conscious and can't think of anything to say or do, so they keep themselves busy at your expense.

A friend of mine used to do this much to my annoyance. Her faked solicitude gripped my soul. I decided to put an end to it. The next time she plucked me, I placed my hand over hers and lifted it off my shoulder with just enough pressure so that she understood. She never pulled that on a non-existent piece of lint off me again. — C. B. W.

Saanich Schools

Canvass Draws Plenty of Reaction

By DOROTHY WROTONSKI

Women supporters of the Saanich School bylaw have had plenty of reaction from residents since they started a house to house canvass last week.

Mrs. G. E. Simmons, mother of two school age and one pre-school age children, says she thinks about 85 per cent of the people she met during the campaign are in favor of more adequate school facilities and intend voting that way on Saturday, May 6.

"YES"

One woman told Mrs. Simmons that she had voted "no" twice but that this time she was going to vote "yes." This woman told Mrs. Simmons that she felt that the School Board had gone more than half way to meet voters' objections and that she also realized that it was the children who were suffering.

Mrs. Simmons found that the people who are strongly opposed to new schools are those who are against the government method of taxation and the school curriculum.

In three instances, Mrs. Simmons found that people who were opposed to the bylaw were going on heresy. When informed of the facts they were quick to change their attitudes.

One family particularly enthusiastic for the bylaw were the parents of a nine year old boy. The child had been on the swing shift and had been becoming quite a problem. His reports showed lack of co-operation and he was morose and unhappy. The family moved and the child attended school at regular hours.

IN FAVOR

Older people and pensioners whom canvassers thought might be indifferent to the "more schools for Saanich" proved to be exactly the opposite in most cases.

WA Tea Proceeds $150

A successful spring tea and sale was held recently by the WA of All Saints Church, View Royal, when the sum of $150 was realized.

Mrs. A. W. R. Ashley, who opened the affair, was presented with a flower bouquet by Miss M. K. Dodd.

Mrs. S. Pitt-Turner, president, welcomed the guests and Mrs. A. W. P. Winkel and Mrs. H. Culling were general conveners.

Speaking for the canvassers, Mrs. Simmons says the most erroneous impression that most people have is that they think the complete cost of the schools will be provided by local taxation. Only one quarter of the cost is drawn from the area, Mrs. Simmons explained.

Garden Notes

'Snoopers' Welcomed

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Real estate men tell me that when a house is put up for sale, a certain percentage of viewers will turn up who haven't the slightest intention of buying and probably don't have the money anyway. They just want to get a look at someone else's home. This is only human nature. I think all of us have a certain amount of this interest and curiosity in our makeup and certainly there is a fascination in seeing how other people live. I know that when my wife and I are asked out for the first time, I always make for the chair nearest the bookcase so I can see what books he has, while Agnes is making a surreptitious survey of the furnishings, the drapes and the mantel ornaments.

It is the same with gardens. Any keen gardener gets a big kick out of visiting someone else's layout, seeing what plants he has and how well they are grown, and picking up new ideas in groupings and color-harmonies and the uses of rock and water to create a satisfying whole. Fortunately for us, the Victoria Horticultural Society has made it possible to do just this—to visit other people's gardens for the next three days.

This is the annual spring garden festival, which is becoming something of a tradition here, attracting hordes of garden lovers from the mainland and the U.S. to visit Victoria's loveliest private gardens. This is how the deal works:

Every afternoon at one o'clock, starting today and continuing for the rest of the week, a bus leaves festival headquarters at the C & C Taxi office, 906 Government Street. This bus carries you to four or five gardens especially selected for their beauty and points of interest—the kind of garden we'd never get to see ordinarily. Halfway through the afternoon, there is a stop for tea.

Today's tour, as an example, visits the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Husband on Rutland Avenue, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wallace on Beach Drive, Mr. and Mrs. Edgell, also on Beach Drive, Mrs. S. L. McMullen on Tyndall Avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Dowman on Shelbourne. The tea stop is at St.

George's Parish Hall on Maynard Road. Tomorrow's and Saturday's tours are equally interesting.

Each tour starts from the C & C Taxi office at one o'clock and the cost, if you use the bus is $1.75 for each day. If you want to use your own car, the registration fee at Festival Headquarters is 75 cents per day. If you take tea at the tea stop, it'll set you back another 50 cents.

Saturday's tour is a little different, taking in gardens on the Saanich Peninsula, and with the tea stop at the Dominion Experimental Farm at Saanichton, where every plant, tree and shrub is clearly labelled. Also in Saturday's tour is a gem of a small garden as an example of what can be done without outside help.

These tours are leisurely affairs—nobody hurries you along and there is plenty of time to snoop to your heart's content in each garden. Guides are provided by the Victoria Horticultural Society to answer your questions. There is a fair amount of walking to be done on lawns and gravel, so high-heeled shoes are definitely out.

Taxes Cut Culture

Gustave Simons, a tax attorney and economist, writes in "The Saturday Review": "In an era when the struggle for men's minds, more than ever before, involves cultural elements, our lawmakers seem to have forgotten that 'Uncle Tom's Cabin,' 'Das Kapital,' and 'Mein Kampf' have served as powerful weapons. At a time when the plight of Boris Pasternak gives up a supreme opportunity in the international contest of literary skills, our Washington leaders lightly cast aside these advantages by subjecting authors to the heaviest tax burden of any segment of our economy."

This is not only cultural lunacy from the standpoint of the nation, but it approaches economic lunacy, too. There are rich American authors. But either they got rich before the tax boom was lowered during the Second World War or they live abroad where they can be totally exempt from taxes. If you write a book that sells well in the United States, you pay taxes, wherever you live.

But if you write a motion picture and you establish residence abroad for over 18 months, you don't pay a quarter in tax. There is a movement afoot to close this tax loophole but this proposed measure—like practically every measure by the U.S. treasury department—is a shortsighted, half measure designed to cope with one small condition rather than the whole situation. Present tax laws are designed to drive writers abroad to write bad movies rather than to write good plays or books in the United States.

Besides impoverishing the country culturally, this kind of tax nonsense helps impoverish it economically, too. In the last 15 years, the motion picture industry, once one of the biggest industries in the country, has fled Hollywood for bases overseas where not only its writers but also its directors and actors can get tax immunity. Hollywood has been largely divested of a hugely profitable industry and it is going to be great fun trying to win it back. Life is too comfortable abroad.

What about the writers? Taylor Caldwell, a very successful popular novelist, who doesn't want to live abroad, has had to pay heavily for the privilege of staying in the U.S. She writes: "I work from 12 to 18 hours a day, writing, and so does my husband who is my collaborator, and I can tell you we are spiritually and physically exhausted."

"Our last books were great best-sellers, 'Dear and Glorious Physician' and 'The Listener.' Now we find the mortgage payments on our house (we had to take out the mortgage to pay our taxes after another best-seller) and the interest on the mortgage, and school and real estate taxes, not to mention fed and state, are entirely too much for us financially."

"We don't want to be forced to leave America, our dear country, as so many writers have been forced to do in desperation." Miss Caldwell is not the only writer mistreated by the tax laws. Most of them are. So are most physicians, actors, artists, and other creative people. Not all creative people. The shadier ones who tell the biggest lies or have the slipperiest lawyers manage to wrest some of their income out of the hands of the treasury department.

Hollywood Today

By Sheilah Graham

Stars Stretcher Cases

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Now I've heard everything. According to a London newspaper, when Sir Laurence Olivier and Peter Sellers take long car trips, they use an ambulance. So much more comfortable!

At the New York Times cocktail party, which always sparks the publishers convention in New York, I renewed my friendship with several of those nice gentlemen who publish my Hollywood column.

And then to hear Judy Garland sing at Carnegie Hall, and to listen while the packed-to-the-rafters audience screamed its delight, before and after each number. What is the secret of this dumpy little songstress, with the trim legs? It's true she has a fantastic voice. When Judy lets go, a huge tidal wave of sound explodes and fills the surrounding premises. And she can sing softly, and be even more appealing.

If Judy scratched her nose, she was applauded. If she sighed, ditto. And when she sang—well, I've never heard anything like the way the audience showed its delight.

In the celebrity-packed audience I spotted Rock Hudson, with a blonde whom I had never seen before, Sid Luft—Judy's husband—and their two young children, clapping nonstop, with Liza Minnelli, Judy's daughter by her marriage with director Vincente Minnelli.

Afterward, at Jan Mitchell's party at Luchow's for Judy, Lauren Bacall, with Jason Robards Jr. in the offing, and tanned Bob Neal with a pretty lady who, of all things, turned out to be his sister.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Flesch

The Wall Street Journal the other day had a long article entitled "The Mistakes," in which it told the miserable, depressing stories of a dozen or so highly touted products that didn't sell.

The most famous failure of them all, of course, was the Ford Company's Edsel, which was presented to the North American public four years ago with fantastic fanfare and then fizzled out in no time.

But the other industries had their Edsels, too. Philco, a couple of years ago, came out with Predicta, a new TV set model that was supposed to sweep the field.

The trade press wrote it up enthusiastically and it did seem enormously promising, except for one little thing—people didn't care for it.

General Foods embarked on a whole line of fancy foods for sales in supermarkets that was supposed to open a whole new market. Consumers didn't buy it.

Bristol-Myers test marketed Analaze, a new drug that was a combined analgesic and anti-acid—a painkiller and stomach sweetener that could be taken without water. It seemed the fulfillment of an age-old dream. People didn't want it.

American Tobacco came out with Hit Parade, their first filter-tip cigarette. Some thirty or forty million dollars' worth of advertising and promotion were poured into it in an effort to knock out the competition. It flopped.

Pair of Thoughts

Why do such mistakes happen? There are two schools of thought in the field of marketing and merchandising—one school believes in market research, like Ford, the other puts its faith into massive promotion and advertising, like Philco.

Does it make any difference? Apparently not. Public taste is and remains unpredictable—sometimes market tests will indicate it correctly in advance, sometimes they won't.

The only lesson from all this seems to be that new products should be introduced extremely gingerly and slowly, following public preference rather than trying to anticipate it.

But I guess it will be a long time until North American business will have learned that lesson. Meanwhile they merrily spend millions and millions on fancy new items and, according to one survey, 24 out of 25 test marketed new products turn out to be flops.

Keep Fighting Traffic Toll

MONTREAL (CP) — Trying to reduce traffic accidents still calls for unremitting determination to educate the public and pass better laws. Ira Needles of Kitchener, chairman of the Canadian Highway Safety Council, said Wednesday.

He told the council's seventh conference:

"If we sometimes feel that action for which the need seems perfectly obvious to us moves forward more slowly than we personally desire we must always remember that the public moves slowly in the acceptance of new and changed ideas."

The meeting urged mechanical safety of cars, teaching driving in schools, ways of improving enforcement of traffic laws and making safety programs effective.

Liaison between the council and the traffic safety committee of the Canadian Medical Association is studying alcohol and driving, seat belts, ambulance services and the potentials of research.

Taking Over

New commander of the minesweeper HMCS Miramichi, based at Esquimalt, will be Lieut. Constantine Cotaras, 30, Falkland. Appointment was announced by naval headquarters in Ottawa and becomes effective June 30.

Metric System Not for Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — The government is not anxious for any sudden change to the metric system of measurement in Canada, Trade Minister Hees said Wednesday. He regrets cases where Canadian manufacturers have lost specific orders because of measurement factors in the design of their products.

Many Chances to See Kennedys in Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — President Kennedy and his wife will be in Ottawa for just under 42 hours on their May 16-18 visit but the public will have at least a half-dozen good chances to see them. The schedule for the president's official visit, announced Wednesday, calls for the Kennedys to shuttle back and forth by car several times across the central section of the city where curbside spectators will have excellent chances to see them.

Big Red Market For Canadians

(Special to The Colonist)

OTTAWA — Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton came back to Canada from Hong Kong not only carrying a big new deal with the Communist Chinese government to buy Canadian wheat, but convinced there is a huge market in China for other Canadian products.

So far, he said Wednesday, Canadians were only scratching the surface of a "tremendously rich" vein of trade that could be mined in China.

"We have to wake up and realize there are tremendous opportunities for trade in China we should be taking advantage of right now," Mr. Hamilton told a press conference with enthusiasm.

There were markets for powdered milk, canned goods, frozen foods, lumber, aluminum, newsprint and many other commodities.

ONE ASKED

"For frozen foods in Red China?" one reporter asked.

Yes, the agriculture minister had found Hong Kong and Kowloon harbors "lined" with cold storage plants, provisioning the coastal cities. Living standards in Hong Kong he had found "surprisingly high."

The 217,000,000 bushels of wheat and 58,800,000 bushels of barley will cross the Pacific over the next 30 months in the holds of a relay of 120 ships and "a good hard sell" could load the decks of such vessels with other exports.

However he conceded trade was a two-way street. The Chinese would hope to increase sales to Canada to offset the $326,000,000 price.

JUST PEANUTS

Red China has been selling Canada only some walnuts, handicrafts and peanuts. This trade has increased from $1,000,000 to around $12,000,000 but is still "literally peanuts."

Communist China could sell Canada jewelry, including cultured pearls, and women's attractive dress goods and textiles.

Green Hints Grain Deal Prelude To Diplomatic Link?

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Green said Wednesday the big Canadian grain sale to Communist China "might be one" of many factors in Canadian consideration of the recognition of Red China and its admission to the UN.

He made the remark in the

Tory MP Unhappy

OTTAWA (CP) — A government supporter expressed misgivings Wednesday about the long-range wheat deal Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton made with Red China.

Fred Stinson (PC-York Centre) told the Commons: "In my opinion the Communist government in Peking has no interest in long-term trading with this country."

"In fact, they are determined to destroy capitalist countries by military or economic means."

'Use Ferry Profits To Widen Highway'

By EDMUND COSGROVE

How to spend the $880,000 clear profit the B.C. government ferry service made in nine months operation?

Create a new ferry service to the Olympic Peninsula, says Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow. Reduce fares for children, argues Saanich Reeve George Chatterton.

Widen the Patricia Bay Highway to four lanes—and fast, says this reporter, who spent slightly more than an hour crawling at 30 miles an hour past signs clearly labelled 50 and 60 miles an hour.

TRANSIT DREAM

The Deas Island tunnel and spanning new ferry boats are the answer to a rapid transit man's dream—up to the point where you drive off the ferry on the island side.

Woe betide the motorist who believes he can make time to Victoria from Swartz Bay.

First comes the ferry loading. Heavy haul trucks and buses are loaded first. This means that, if you want to match the highway speed limits, you've got to pass these behemoths in a series of quick bursts of speed along a road that boasts few straightaways.

FOUR OF THEM

Then, of course, there is the scenery-ogler. There were four of them that offloaded from the ferry at 2.45 p.m. yesterday.

The driver who pulled out past one convoy found himself tagged on the end of another.

New Schools Not Dunces Dumps

COURTENAY — Critics of the Chant report should be careful not to leave the impression that proposed vocational schools will be dumping grounds for B.C.'s less gifted students, an MLA and former high school teacher warned here yesterday.

Dan Campbell, Social Credit member for Comox, said automation is accelerating the need for technical training of intelligence. "Many students should wind up in the vocational stream because of interest and aptitude, not because they couldn't make the grade academically," he said.

Division of education into academic and vocational training definitely is coming, although the Chant report is still under government study, he said.

Mr. Campbell also charged that critics were overlooking major recommendations of the Royal Commission report by focusing on fringe details. Need for more Canadian content in textbooks was one of the most important Chant points critics seemed to be ignoring, he said.

B.C. teachers should be organized into workshop groups to bring out a series of textbooks. The government could assist by paying teachers salaries during summer workshops for the work, Mr. Campbell said.

There is a great need here for texts of high Canadian content that can be geared more easily to the aims of the B.C. curriculum," he said.

Future problems of status between academic and vocational programs already are with us in the division between university entrance and general programs in present high school curriculum, Mr. Campbell said.

"Educators who should know better and parents who try to know better tend to place the general program on a lesser educational plane," he said.

Improvements to the school program will be of little comfort to those already complaining about costs. The total education bill is going to be still higher, he predicted.

"I don't know what they are complaining about. The United States spends more on chewing gum than on education and I don't think it's much different in Canada," he said.

Late Rush By Pupils Expected

School officials are preparing for a rush of late registrations of pupils who will enter Grade 1 and kindergarten classes in Greater Victoria this September.

A spokesman said figures up to 5 p.m. yesterday stood at 1,261 for Grade 1 and 790 for kindergarten. Registration will continue from 3 to 4 p.m. today and Friday at all elementary schools.

CLIMB EXPECTED

Grade 1 enrolment at present stands far below this year's figure of more than 2,100 but officials said the total for the coming year is expected to climb sharply by the end of the week-long registration period.

Kindergarten classes which this year are operating in eight local elementary schools have a capacity of 960 students. School officials said it appeared all eight kindergartens would be operating again next year.

STILL REQUIRED

They pointed out, however, that parents of youngsters attending private kindergartens are still required to register at their nearest elementary school if the pupils are to enter Grade 1 this fall.

Fairclough Says:

Indians Given Every Chance

The only limit on education available to Canada's Indian children is that imposed by their capacity to learn, Immigration Minister Ellen Fairclough said in Victoria last night.

Mrs. Fairclough, whose portfolio includes the Indian affairs department, is in Victoria in support of Reeve George Chatterton, Progressive Conservative candidate in the May 29 Esquimalt-Saanich by-election.

NO REASON

"The federal government provides scholarships specially for Indian students and we urge them all to stay at school as long as they can," she said. "There is no reason why they shouldn't get as much education as they can absorb."

Of the 185,000 Indians in Canada, about 92,500—half of them—are under 16 years old. VERY PROUD

"I am extremely proud of our scholarship winners," she said. "I hope some students from this area will qualify next year."

"I think that with greatly increased educational facilities the Indian will find it more and more advantageous to earn a living in the non-Indian community."

Mrs. Fairclough highly praised art by students of the Kuper Island Indian school, near Ladysmith.

RECEPTION SET

At 10:30 a.m. today Mrs. Fairclough will visit the Royal Oak farm of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Granewall, 5630 Alderley. The family migrated to Canada from Sweden in 1951.

She will be the guest of Lieutenant Governor George Pearkes and Mrs. Pearkes at Government House for lunch and in the afternoon Mrs. Fairclough will attend a reception in St. Luke's church hall. Reeve Chatterton and Mrs. Chatterton will be hosts at the reception, to be held from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Mrs. Fairclough will have dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Chatterton at the Empress this evening.

ant enough to bomb and Nanaimo isn't.

The national civil defence exercise has been code-named "Tocain 1961" and will start tomorrow with the sounding of the alert warning—a steady note of three minutes duration on the air raid sirens.

Remember, this is just a drill and not the real thing.

HOME NERVES

"I feel that unless the public is adequately informed that the sounding of the alert warning and later the take-cover warning is only a test and not the real thing some accidents, or at least frayed nerves, might well result," said V. S. Godfrey, target area civil defence director.

As soon as the alert is sounded Prime Minister Diefenbaker will speak over all Canadian radio stations to explain the exercise.

As soon as the warning is sounded Premier Bennett, members of the cabinet and leading civil service officials will leave for Nanaimo.

A bomb-proof shelter will be built in the Hub city to house these officials later this year. Purpose of evacuating top government personnel is to ensure leaders will be available to keep essential services running smoothly after a nuclear attack. Their families will remain here.

The army is in charge of organizing the exercise.

Fast Writing Pays Dividends

Marion Angus is a Scottish-born expert in English shorthand who beats the drum with a pen for her specialty across Canada and the United States.

A topflight expert in her field, Miss Angus has no trouble dashing off 300 words a minute on paper and, for lecture and demonstration purposes, 200 words on a blackboard. Her top speed, she says, was 325 words a minute.

REWARDING FUTURE

The field of shorthand, she says, offers a rewarding future for girls and boys.

Apart from the business world of stenography, with which the speed-writing system is usually linked, there is the bigger field of courtrooms and parliamentary reporting, today sadly short of recruits.

Here particularly, she says, is where a boy with nimble knuckles and an elastic elbow can find a queer rich in interest and monetary returns.

HIGH PAY

"Skilled shorthand reporters in the House of Commons in Ottawa," Miss Angus said yesterday, "earn up to $7,000 for five months' work. That leaves another seven for other gainful employment and vacations."

Exercises with U.S.

Sweeper Squadron Sails for California

Pacific Command's Second Canadian Minesweeping Squadron sailed out of Esquimalt harbor yesterday bound for California waters and joint exercises with warships of the U.S. navy.

The squadron, commanded by Lt. Cmdr. D. M. Waters, who is also skipper of the senior ship, HMCS Fortune, will pay a weekend visit to San Francisco en route to Long Beach, Calif. Other ships are Cowichan, Miramichi and James Bay.

In the Long Beach area the ships will carry out extensive minesweeping exercises before leaving the California port June 1. Another week-end visit will be made to San Francisco on the northward voyage prior to a scheduled stop at Portland, Ore., June 7 to 12 for the annual rose festival.

The squadron is due to return to its Esquimalt base June 13.

Deficit No Surprise

Symphony Tickets at Peak

The fact that the Victoria Symphony Society is showing a deficit failed to faze society president Jack Barraclough last night.

"It is an annual situation," he said.

Although the ledgers failed to indicate prosperity this year, the symphony maintained an exceptionally high attendance, ending the year with a record 1,678 season-ticket holders and applications for tickets for next season rolling in.

The society at present has 167 guarantors who are responsible for sharing the season's deficit.

He said friends of the symphony were being approached for donations before the end of the fiscal year (May 1) to enable the society to complete plans for next year's concerts.

Reviewing the year's events, he said the orchestra had given a total of 37 concerts. Included in this total were concerts in Campbell River, Duncan, Cobble Hill and Sidney.

Some 8,000 students attended special concerts financed by Canada Council funds during the season.

Though concerts at the Butchart Gardens have been cancelled, Mr. Barraclough said he hoped funds would be available for at least one free concert before the end of summer.

Trial Certain for Two Owners In Brandon Conspiracy Issue

BRANDON (CP)—Magistrate William Stordy announced Wednesday he will commit Toronto businessmen Hugh Paton and D. Hubert Cox today for trial on charges of conspiring to steal $400,000 from Brandon Packers Ltd., a meat packing firm of which the two were principal owners.

The magistrate spoke at the end of a preliminary hearing that started March 29.

The magistrate indicated he would consider no reduction in bail after Crown Prosecutor A. S. Dewar said he had been instructed by the Manitoba attorney-general to oppose any reduction.

The attorney-general has ordered trial before a judge and jury. Maximum sentence upon conviction of such a charge is 14 years imprisonment.

Write Safety Rules Skindivers Urged

VANCOUVER (CP)—Attorney-General Robert Bonner urged skindivers Wednesday to adopt their own safety rules rather than have it imposed by government.

He said the government would consider safety legislation only if diving accidents became widespread.

Mr. Bonner was commenting on a suggestion for diving laws following a near-fatal skindiving mishap during a coastal salvage operation last week.

"I don't think legislation would have prevented this accident," said Mr. Bonner. "The victim Jack Thompson, 22, of Vancouver, was a professional diver."

He compared skin-diving with skiing and said there were no laws to prevent foolhardy skiers from breaking legs.

Boy in Coma After Bite At Mushroom

A deadly mushroom that invaded the Greater Victoria area this spring almost claimed its first victim yesterday.

Doctors at Royal Jubilee Hospital are fighting for the life of 18-month-old Roddie Walters of 547 Winthrop, Metchesin.

Roddie took two bites from a mushroom he found while playing in his front yard. Minutes later he was violently ill. Then he lapsed into a coma.

"SATISFACTORY"

Hospital authorities reported the boy's condition was satisfactory. He has regained consciousness, but will be kept in hospital for treatment and observation.

"It was lucky I came home from work when I did," said his father, Daniel Walters, a millworker.

Mr. Daniels rushed the youngster to Victoria city police station by car. From there, the police ambulance conveyed the boy to hospital.

Violent Sickening

"I don't usually come right home from work," said Mr. Walters.

This time he decided to go right home.

There he found his wife treating young Roddie, who was violently ill.

"I thought at first he had an upset stomach, but his sickness was so violent, I decided to investigate."

The older children told him the boy had been playing alone in the front yard.

FOUND MUSHROOM
"I went outside to where he had been playing and I found this mushroom. It had several bites out of it."

"I phoned the doctor and he told me to rush Roddie to hospital."

At the hospital, provincial botanist Dr. Adam Szczawinski identified the mushroom as the type classified as Panther Agaric.

WARNING REPEATED

He repeated the warning he made in the Colonist April 16.

"Once again I would warn the people of Greater Victoria to closely check lawns and wooded areas. These mushrooms should be destroyed and children warned not to touch them."

He said a small amount of the mushroom was sufficient to bring death.

Push Atlantic Trade Pearson Tells Nation

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Canada should take the lead in developing an Atlantic free trade area and not allow herself to be frozen out of overseas markets by isolation from the European free trade area.

Liberal Leader Pearson said Wednesday night.

"Canada cannot get out of its difficulties without expanded markets," he said.

"This is one area where we should show leadership. We should show leadership."

High Cost of Bosses

Union Answer to Clyne

If soaring wages cause unemployment, as MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River chairman J. V. Clyne recently claimed, then Mr. Clyne must be the "greatest single cause of unemployment in this province," a top union official said here last night.

E. P. O'Neal, secretary-treasurer of B.C. Federation of Labor, said in three years Mr. Clyne's salary has jumped from $19,000 as a Supreme Court judge to $75,000 a year he now earns.

"Three times as much as the prime minister of Canada."

Armed Force Promised

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy's meetings with the National Security Council have confirmed his decision to do whatever is necessary to help South Viet Nam win its undeclared war with Communist guerrilla invaders, authoritative sources reported yesterday.

Kennedy has sent assurances to South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem that the United States is prepared to order its armed forces into action if that finally should become necessary.

The possibility that South-east Asia Treaty Organization forces might have to aid Viet Nam also has been discussed here and at SEATO's Bangkok headquarters. But officials emphasized this was not a proposal for immediate decision.

Steps to help South Viet Nam, which borders troubled Laos, are being taken however.

Military Aid Boosted

U.S. military aid to Diem's 150,000-man army is being increased by about $40,000,000 with emphasis on planes, river boats and other transport.

The objective is to increase the army's mobility in fighting the hit-and-run forces and intercepting their supply and troop reinforcements from Communist North Viet Nam.

U.S. Rejects Risk

Kennedy's policy decision, while Soviet power remains intact, is a rejection of the idea that the United States should not risk involvement in a jungle war on the periphery of the Communist empire.

Kennedy was said to be particularly determined to take a strong stand in dealing with the Communist threat to South Viet Nam. He wants to reassure America's small allies and warn the Communist bloc that the story of Laos will not be repeated elsewhere in South-east Asia.

The president's position was described as a determination to back up U.S. promises to help defend small nations which want to defend themselves.

This key ingredient has been missing in Laos. Moreover, that country's geographic position made a neutral compromise the best available choice. But administration officials reject India's view that neutralism is the road to peace for all South-east Asia.

'Canada's Record Not So Clean On Racial Policy'

Canadians must never take a sanctimonious attitude of virtue when it comes to condemning South Africa's racial policies, Dr. Hugh Keenleyside told a joint meeting of the men's and women's Canadian Clubs here yesterday.

"We have never, and we should be thankful for it, been faced with the kind of problem that the white settlers of South Africa have had to meet," he said. "If we had been our response might have been no better."

WITH REGRET:

Dr. Keenleyside, chairman of the B.C. Power Commission and former director-general of the United Nations' technical assistance administration, said South Africa's decision to withdraw from the Commonwealth had to be accepted by the other Commonwealth members.

"We do not, of course, know all that went on at the meeting of the prime ministers in London last March," he said. "But I do hope and believe that our representative there did what he had to do with regret and with no sanctimonious professions of Canadian virtue."

NOT ENVIALE

Canada itself did not have an enviable record.

"Our record in dealings with our own Indians has many dark passages," he said.

"And can we be really proud of our immigration policy which maintains against unsuitable barriers against persons of color, even when they are citizens of Commonwealth nations?"

"Can we honestly suggest that our clubs and better residential areas are open on equal terms and without protest to all our people regardless of color, race or religious affiliation?"

"For social purposes in Canada it is more acceptable to believe in no God than to worship God under the wrong auspices. And if your skin is dark you can be banned from a Canadian hotel, although it is legal, even if you are Dr. Ralph Bunche," he said.

B.C. School Textbooks Hail 'Our' President

VANCOUVER (CP)—While no Canadian prime ministers are mentioned in some textbooks required in British Columbia schools, "our" Civil War and "our" president rate coverage.

This has come to light through a series of surveys conducted by various agencies as parents and educationists expressed growing concern about United States-produced textbooks in B.C. schools.

An independent survey submitted to the Chant royal commission on B.C. education, came up with the following:

● No Canadian prime minister is mentioned in a Grade 10 history text.

● A Grade 6 social studies text says India has a victory.

● Spellers used in Grades

7, 8 and 9 show a marked difference in spelling from accepted Canadian practice.

● A Grade 11 text entitled "Representative Short Stories" contains 15 stories by United States authors and the remaining seven by British, French, Danish and Swedish writers.

● A Grade 9 geography textbook says Ocean Falls receives less rain than Victoria.

● Another social studies

book speaks of the U.S. president as "our president."

● A history text called "Our World, Renaissance to Modern Times" mentions "our own war between the states," a grand jury system not used in Canada and gives extensive coverage to the Second World War but mentions only two British generals against four Americans.

The books are prescribed by the B.C. education department. A department official has said American texts are carefully screened and revised before they are published in Canada.

But a submission to the Chant commission said of "Our World":

"Nowhere in the text is there any hint of criticism of U.S. policy. The implication would seem to be that from its inception the U.S. has been motivated by the truest altruism in all its dealings.

"All of the U.S. actions take place on a high moral plane. They are justified by the highest motives in an unerring instinct of right."

The Chant commission recommended that the department of education consider producing its own textbooks if those supplied by commercial publishers are not improved.

Demure Queenie Vindicated Beacon Hill Park Still Home

'Thanks' to Everyone
—Including the City

By EDMUND COSGROVE

"Naturally, I'm pleased."

Queenie didn't actually use these words.

In fact, she didn't talk at all when informed the city parks committee had indicated they would vote against a proposal to send Queenie away from Beacon Hill Park.

OPEN FEELINGS

But if you know horses, you can pretty well interpret their feelings by the way they act.

Queenie was quietly demure as she listened to her reprieve.

She had that air of injured dignity... the look of one who has been wronged and vindicated.

Her head bowed, she surveyed a fellow that had lost its winsome charm in the service of the city.

A touch of moisture was evident at the corners of her large brown eyes.

"I'm very thankful to all those people who rallied to me in my hour of peril," she managed to convey to her questioners.

"I'm sure I've done my best all these years... it was a blow to realize that one is not indispensable... a sob wracked her bony shoulders.

Queenie was surprised to be visited by the press.

AWFUL LOOK

"Dear me, I must look asight," she whinnied.

Asked for a statement, she thought for a minute then, tossing her chestnut hair proudly.

tically can't replace loyalty and affection..."

More Pay Urged For Jurors

NANAIMO—Persons summoned for jury duty may be in for a better rate of pay if the provincial government follows the recommendation of Island municipalities.

Members of councils yesterday agreed to work a "more realistic sum" as a result of pressure from municipal unions asking employees to make up the difference in lost wages.

Saanich Loses Bid to Elect Police Boards

NANAIMO—A Saanich resolution calling for return to direct election of police commissioners was turned down by Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities meeting here yesterday.

Equimall Reeve Alfred Wurtel said the resolution, previously thrown out by the Union of B.C. Municipalities, would mean an independent police commission, over which councils would have no control on spending.

Saanich Coun. Joseph Casey asked, "Why do we elect a reeve and council or a school board? We have no control over school spending."

Equimall Coun. James Bryant said municipalities should have a representative on school boards for a degree of control.

Taxing 'Outside' Realtors Backed by Island Councils

NANAIMO—Vancouver Island mayors, Reeves and aldermen Wednesday decided to seek reintroduction of a pay-as-you-go scale of fees for non-resident real estate agents.

Meeting here as the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities, the delegates from Victoria to Campbell River unanimously approved a resolution seeking the licensing of agents, as proposed by Saanich council, to go before the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

The resolution pointed out that under the 1961 Real Estate Act, municipalities cannot obtain fees from real estate agents unless they have a business in the municipality.

Saanich delegates contended this legislation is discriminatory because some municipalities may license agents and some may not.

Another reason given is that some agents pay license fees because their business is in the municipality while out-of-town agents may solicit business without paying any fees.

It was stressed that municipal staffs are required to spend a lot of time giving information to agents regarding real property, taxes and subdivision regulations. This amounts "in effect to a direct subsidy by the ratepayers towards one type of business endeavour in the municipality."

Delegates decided to back a move to have the act amended and if considered advisable, establish a scale of licence fees which municipalities may charge agents who do not have a business in the municipality. This may be based upon the number of salesmen employed.

Casanova Book Swiped

LONDON (AP)—Someone has swiped "The Memoirs of Casanova" from the Commons library.

The Commons library committee reported that the chronicle of the 18th-century lover was one of 450 books that disappeared from the vast library last year.

It added that "serious works on sex" are kept safe under lock and key.

Everyone Pays, Per Capita

Island Municipalities Join In Push for Tourist Trade

NANAIMO—Vancouver Island municipalities yesterday joined hands and jumped into the tourist promotion business.

Twenty-six voting delegates of the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities agreed after a two-hour meeting on tourism to:

- Work as a combined unit to bring tourists to the island.

- Pay the shot by taking each municipality on a per capita basis.

- Approve the per capita amount for each municipality.

- Appoint the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau as its spending agent.

- Name its executive committee to represent municipalities on the bureau.

Reeve George Chatterton of Saanich, retiring association president, said several municipalities have already made their contribution.

"We shall get cracking this year. So long as we have at least 75 per cent of the municipalities we can operate."

NOT OVER YET

However, the mayors, Reeves, aldermen and councillors who represented their municipalities at yesterday's meeting still face council ratification.

Reeve Chatterton urged the delegates to get going on the matter as soon as possible because 1962 is expected to be a key tourist year for Vancouver Island with the Seattle Century 21 exposition nearby.

COST CAUTION

Although delegates went along with forming a united body, they exercised caution during the lengthy discussion of costs.

Some delegates were wary that their municipalities would be asked to pay too much.

Others thought the cost should be arrived at on an assessment rather than a per capita basis.

ONE POINT

Reeve Donald Morton of North Cowichan gave the impression at one point that his municipality would have nothing to do with the joint effort.

When the vote was taken to decide if the municipalities should weld their tourist promotion efforts together, Reeve Morton was the only delegate heard uttering an audible "no."

VOICES DOWN

He later said "there were a few others against—but they kept their voices down."

He said his municipality had voted against a joint venture "and there was nothing else I could do when it came to taking the vote."

His father was Dennis Reginald Harris, a civil engineer. His mother was the youngest of the Douglas daughters.

VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, THURSDAY, MAY 4, 1961

Tougher 'Bobby' Helmets Just the Thing

"Bobby" helmets—the new type, that is—would probably be the most practical headgear for Victoria policemen.

This new slant on an old argument was advanced last night by Chamber of Commerce president Aubrey Kent.

"I can understand the viewpoint of the policemen—they don't want to get all dolled up just for the tourists," he said.

"However, the new type of Bobby helmets are lighter and more comfortable than the ones we used to have for our police."

A policeman, in the course of his duty, is liable to attack or a blow on the head. The new helmet affords a measure of protection to him.

He conceded the bobby helmets "would be a tourist attraction," but said he was having his comments "on the fact that the helmet is a practical headgear."

Mr. Kent, who is chairman of the chamber's tourist group, said police opposition to the switch to helmets was probably based on their memories of the old type.

The proposal to revert to the helmets has met stone-wall opposition from members of the police force.

Police union spokesman Const. Lorne Shandley said: "We made our feelings known on this point last year. It still stands."

Union members, who managed to have the helmets dropped in 1948, have negotiated a special clause in their working contract calling for no change in uniforms.

Many feel the helmets less-

sen the efficiency of the force.

Said one: "After all, the police department is a public safety force. The helmet tends to create a comic opera atmosphere and doesn't help in maintaining public respect."

He added that the first consideration should be the efficiency of the force, rather than "their attraction to tourists."

Help New Party Candidate Labor Council Asks Unions

Victoria Labor Council last night set up machinery for receiving voluntary donations and offers of help from trade unionists on behalf of New Party candidate Glen Hamilton in the May 29 Esquimalt-Saanich by-election.

At the same time delegates agreed on a new policy for the council regarding political action. It will in future provide information on political matters only to those affiliated local unions and individuals that request it.

There was no repetition of stormy scenes on the floor of the labor council meeting a month ago when delegates first discussed withdrawal of three strong unions involved in the dispute over political action. No debate was held as the last night's resolutions dealing with political matters were passed.

Following the meeting, VLC secretary-treasurer A. W. Toome told the Colonist he believed the new council policy removed all bars to the return of the disaffiliated unions.

He felt there could be no further objections either on the part of unions that considered the council had been taking direct political action or, as in the case of the IWA, not enough political action.

He said, however, a special three-man committee was seeking an early meeting with each of the unions that withdrew to explain the council's newly formulated policy on political matters and to invite them to renew their affiliation.

Steps taken by the meeting included:

• Appointment of William Gaud, Canadian Labor Congress representative on Vancouver Island, as temporary head of the VLC political education committee. The position had been vacant for some time and delegates endorsed the action of VLC president Robert Barrie in appointing Mr. Gaud so that support could be enlisted for the New Party in the by-election, just three weeks off.

• Endorsed a request from Mr. Gaud to all local unions affiliated with VLC enlisting "sincere and voluntary contributions to the election of the party and candidate that will best represent their interests in Ottawa." The letter also called for volunteers to distribute New Party campaign literature, drive cars on election day and spread word of mouth support for Mr. Hamilton.

• Approved a resolution to the effect that the council's political education committee under Mr. Gaud would be responsible for collecting cash donations and assigning volunteer workers to their tasks in the by-election campaign.

• Endorsed a proposal by organization committee chairman Fred Bevis that a series of talks on political matters be given by Prof. C. S.

Burchill over a six week period starting June 1. The most worthy participant in the series will be sent with all expenses paid to the New Party founding convention in eastern Canada.

Defence Test

Cabinet 'Flees' Friday

Premier Bennett and his cabinet will flee Victoria tomorrow morning as the nation undergoes a wide-reaching test of civil defence measures.

Their safety shelter will be at Nanaimo—indicating that Victoria is considered important enough to bomb and Nanaimo isn't.

The national civil defence exercise has been code-named "Tocin 1961" and will start tomorrow with the sounding of the alert warning—a steady note of three minutes duration on the air raid sirens.

Remember, this is just a drill and not the real thing.

OVER RADIO

As soon as the alert is sounded Prime Minister Diefenbaker will speak over all Canadian radio stations to explain the exercise.

As soon as the warning is sounded Premier Bennett, members of the cabinet and leading civil service officials will leave for Nanaimo.

A bomb-proof shelter will be built in the Hub city to house these officials later this year.

FAMILIES STAY

Purpose of evacuating top government personnel is to ensure leaders will be available to keep essential services running smoothly after a nuclear attack. Their families will remain here.

The army is in charge of organizing the exercise.

Defacing Deplored

Socreds to Replace Smeared Poll Signs

Social Credit officials are waiting today for new signs to replace 14 along the Patricia Bay Highway which were defaced overnight Tuesday.

The signs, which read "Vote for George Hahn," were smeared with black paint, leaving only the words "Vote for George."

'DISAPPOINTED'

"I am not interested in getting into a controversy over signs," Mr. Hahn said last night. "I am disappointed to find that an effort is being made to make an election issue of such matters of no consequence."

"Surely the electors of Esquimalt-Saanich have a right to be represented by people of greater stature than that?"

'STRICT ORDERS'

Mr. Hamilton commented: "Well, my name isn't George. We have given strict instructions to all our workers not to interfere in any way with any other party's material."

David Gross, Liberal candidate, agreed with other candidates in deploring the vandalism.

"But it is good to see there is no shortage of signs to be replaced," he added.

"I hope they catch the culprit the right way to express disapproval and I hope they make an approval."

"These signs disfigure the beauty of the countryside enough by themselves without making it worse by splashing paint on them."

"I decided long ago not to use signs like this anywhere."

Reeve George Chatterton, Progressive Conservative candidate, said: "I don't like those signs, but I don't think that is area."

Salvage Ruled Out For Sunken Barge

An underwater survey of barge will be blasted off with an explosive charge.

The barge, 90 feet long and 32 feet in beam, sank in minutes after an 11-ton propeller crashed through its deck and pierced the bottom timbers when a steel cable broke while it was being lifted onto the deck of one of the Liberty ships. No one was injured.

ITB's deepest tugboat Cambrian Salvor sailed from Saanich Bay late yesterday with two Liberty ships bound for Japan where the obsolete merchantmen will be broken up for scrap. Four of the Second World War vessels remain at the moorage in Saanich Bay where they are being readied for the long wreck. It is likely the boom of the 25-ton derrick on the tow-

banker and said: "You know, you may not believe me but I'd give $20,000 of this to have him back."

BREKIDAT CORNER: Two readers have come forward in defence of the income department. Seems that both had a larger refund sent them than they themselves had estimated—which is nice to know! ...

Sam Lane, mine host of the Oldie Land Inn, said the tourist trade group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce had fought vigorously to defend that city council had waited until our backs were turned" and the group was making that later-to-be-reversed decision.

MISSING LINK: Social Credit candidate George Hahn defines an expert as "X—the unknown quantity—and 'spurt'—a drip under pressure."

GERALD McDONALD ... clung to rock

Plunges Off Sidney

Ferry Steward Quickly Rescued

A 30-year-old ship's steward was saved from the swirling tide-water of Active Pass yesterday in a dramatic all-sea rescue.

Gerald G. C. McDonald, 631 Langford, was pulled from the water half an hour after he plunged from the after deck of the B.C. government ferry Mv. Sidney.

CLING TO ROCK

McDonald was found clinging to a rock near the Galiano Island shoreline by the crew of an unidentified cabin cruiser from Boundary Bay.

Taken to Rest Haven Hospital at Sidney, he was reported to have recovered from the physical effects of his immersion. He was taken to hospital for psychiatric observation.

First alarm aboard the ferry was sounded when a passenger saw McDonald plunge from the afterdeck.

The rescue was witnessed by more than 600 passengers aboard the Sidney and the Mv. Tsawwassen.

The two ferries had met at the eastern entrance to Active Pass. The Sidney was inbound to Swartz Bay and the Tsawwassen was headed for the mainland.

LOWER BOATS

Both vessels lowered boats, then circled the area, searching for McDonald.

Nearby, a radio message was sent to the RCAF's 121 Search and Rescue Flight at Sea Island. An Albatross flying boat landed and took McDonald to Patricia Bay. McDonald was suffering from shock and exposure.

The mishap, first of its kind since the government ferries went into operation, delayed the arrival of the Sidney by 30 minutes.

Civic Centre Goal $325,000

PORT ALBERNI — Alberni Valley Civic Centre Association has set a campaign figure of $325,000 to build an arena as the first project of a complete centre.

The announcement was made on the return of a committee of five, headed by Maurice Corbiel, from a visit to Esquimalt where an arena is in the final stage of construction.

The local association's campaign chairman, Cliff Lee, has reported that May 14 has been designated "A Day" or Arena Day with the campaign getting under way at 12:30 p.m.

It is expected, he said, that several hundred salesmen will start canvassing homes on A Day to obtain $100 pledges to finance the arena.

During the week of May 7 to 13, business places in the Alberni Valley will be canvassed.

A campaign office has been set up at 206 Argyle Street in charge of Mrs. Eric Fix. Office hours will be from noon until midnight this week.

Mr. Lee has called for volunteers to help in the canvassing. Men willing to help in the actual door-to-door drive and any person willing to help with any other work of the committee are asked to call at the campaign headquarters at 206 Argyle Street, or phone 3377.

GANGES — "Island Capers," a two-act musical comedy presented by the Salt Spring Island Lions Club, played to capacity houses at three performances in Mahon Hall. All proceeds will go towards the ambulance which is maintained and operated by the Lions Club.

The comedy, based on a Hawaiian theme, was written and produced under the direction of Lions Ed Richardson and Dr. Ted Januch, and the witty dialogue and clever topical parodies had the audience rocking with laughter.

The realistic backdrops were the work of Harold Hoffman. Routley said.

Mrs. H. S. Noakes at the organ and Mrs. E. J. Ashlee at the piano provided incidental music and accompaniments for the chorus and quartettes which created a truly Hawaiian atmosphere.

Hula dancers Susan Graham, Georgina Burge, Marcia Sober, Sandra Bradley and Verlyn East added glamor to the program.

DUNCAN

Kostenuk and Kershaw Trucking Ltd., Victoria, were fined $10 in police court Wednesday for driving on the highway with an overweight load of logs.

The program of choral and instrumental music will include numbers rehearsed during the past term under Alberni District High School instructors C. W. Nash, Dexter Waltham and Mrs. H. Williams.

Three bands, three choirs, brass and woodwind ensembles and a number of vocal and instrumental solos will be on the program to start at 8 p.m.

Proceeds of this year's concert will be donated to the school funds.

NANAIMO

Traffic death of Edward Lawrence Landry, 22, of Port Alberni, was ruled accidental by a coroner's jury Tuesday.

No blame was attached to driver of the car, Donald Wallace Torgerson of Alberni. The accident occurred on April 22 on Highway 19, between Northfield Road and Deerpark Bay. Landry died in Nanaimo General Hospital from multiple skull fractures and internal bleeding. Dr. John DUNCAN — A new group to coordinate athletic and recreation activities in the district has been formed.

It will be known as the Cowichan Valley Athletic Club.

Sandy Maynard was elected chairman with Jeff Hunter as vice-chairman. Duncan Jaycee will be asked to appoint another vice-chairman. Secretary is Miss Jane Russell.

It was generally agreed that a full summer program of sports was needed in the district. Plans will be discussed at a public meeting next month.

QUALICUM BEACH

A car driven by Edward Frank McGregor, Port Alberni, went out of control at a railway crossing north of Qualicum Beach, smashed into a sign post, and sent one man to hospital suffering from leg abrasions and injury to his back.

The injured man was James Sjaanson, also of Port Alberni. RCMP officers from Qualicum Beach investigated the early morning accident, and charges are pending.

NANAIMO

New president of the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities is Mayor Jack Dobson of Duncan.

Other officers elected at yesterday's meeting were Ald. John Cook, Nanaimo, vice-president; Reeve Donald Morton, North Cowichan, Commissioner William Henderson, Cumberland, chairman; Port Alberni, executive; Commissioner L. Ryan, Ladysmith, chairman, the village representative on the executive; Gordon Berry, Duncan city clerk, is secretary-treasurer.

It was agreed to hold the next annual meeting at Duncan.

COURTENAY — A 20-year dream of a ferry link between Powell River and Comox came true yesterday when the Mv. Island Princess docked here at the end of its inaugural run.

Delegations of Comox Valley and Powell River public officials and businessmen were on hand to celebrate the occasion with a breakfast meeting at the Elk Hotel.

Many of them have agitated and hoped for years that a direct water crossing between here and the mainland would some day be established.

The new service will be operated twice weekly by Coast Ferries Ltd. Trips will start from Stevenson.

Yesterday's trip, skippered by Capt. D. Rogers Tilton, brought a party of 68 Powell Riverites for the ceremonies.

Chamber of Commerce officials expressed the hope the new passenger and car service would become a great circle route for tourists from Vancouver to Comox, Nanaimo and Victoria.

QUALICUM BEACH

Village council has awarded a roadwork contract to General Construction Co. of Vancouver, whose bid was $35,083. Contract calls for cutting, filling, graveling, rolling, grading and finishing with asphalt machine-laid, hot-mix asphalt on some 12,000 feet of road within the village. There were four other tenders submitted. Work has already commenced on the project.

Previously, council had approved a $153,702 budget, with an estimated total of $45,000 allocated for road improvement in the municipality. Mill rate was set at 35.15 mills—an increase of only nine-tenths of a mill over last year. Other allocations approved were $130,337 for general purposes which includes $3,467 to the hospital improvement district; $44,771 to the school requisition, and $23,365 for waterworks.

Marauding Dogs Decimate Flock

DUNCAN—Marauding dogs killed four sheep and maimed two others here Tuesday.

Dead and injured sheep are from a small flock owned by Angus Campbell, Quamichan Park Road.

Following the incident, RCMP warned that owners may be held responsible for damages where their dogs destroy sheep and other farm animals.

Rental Dispute Threatens Curling Future

DUNCAN—Disagreement between the Cowichan Co-operative Curling Association, owners of the curling rink, and the Duncan Curling Club threatens the future of the sport here next season.

The association is seeking increased rental for the building while the curling club so far has indicated refusal to pay higher fees.

The rink owners originally asked the club to pay a flat rental of $12,000 for the next five-month season, a 50 per cent increase over this year's fee of $8,000. The curling club turned the proposal down.

This week, the association offered to rent the rink to the curling club for a full 12-month period for a flat fee of $14,500.

Curling club president Denny Robertson said he thought it would be financially impossible for the club to run the rink all year. He estimated the annual cost of running and maintaining the rink at between $18,000 and $20,000. Curling dues amount to $7,200 a year while skating adds between $3,000 and $4,000. This would still leave a considerable balance to be raised.

Raising curling club dues, he felt, was not the answer, as it would mean many would have to drop out.

Mr. Robertson said the curling club has called a meeting for May 11 to discuss the situation and he expressed hope that a solution could be found.

Well-Known Contractor 59

Henry Hamilton Dies in Duncan

DUNCAN—Well-known Duncan electrical contractor Henry George Hamilton died Tuesday. He was 59.

Born at Collingwood, Ont., he was a former resident of Regina and Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask., Vancouver and Sidney, and had lived in Duncan for the past 17 years.

He was a past president of the Duncan Rotary Club, and a member of the BPOE, POE, Canadian Legion, Cowichan Golf and Country Club, Cowichan Valley Gun Club and the Maple Bay Yacht Club.

He is survived by his widow, Mary; a son, Ross, Duncan; a daughter, Mrs. R. J. Robertson, West Vancouver; three grandchildren; his mother, Mrs. W. H. Hamilton, Duncan; two brothers, Jack of Fort Qu'Appelle and Bruce of Prince Albert, Sask.

Funeral services will be held at Hirst Funeral Chapel Friday at 2 p.m. with Canon B. T. Page officiating. Cremation will follow.

COURTENAY—Critics of the Chant report should be careful not to leave the impression that proposed vocational schools will be dumping grounds for B.C.'s less gifted students, an MLA and former high school teacher warned here yesterday.

Dan Campbell, Social Credit member for Comox, said automation is accelerating the need for technical training of intelligence. "Many students should wind up in the vocational stream because of interest and aptitude, not because they couldn't make the grade academically," he said.

Division of education into academic and vocational training definitely is coming, although the Chant report is still under government study, he said.

Mr. Campbell also charged that critics were overlooking major recommendations of the Royal Commission report by focusing on fringe details. Need for more Canadian content in textbooks was one of the most important Chant-points critics seemed to be ignoring, he said.

B.C. teachers should be organized into workshop groups to bring out a series of textbooks. The government could assist by paying teachers salaries during summer workshops for the work, Mr. Campbell said.

There is a great need here for texts of high Canadian content that can be geared more easily to the aims of the B.C. curriculum," he said.

Future problems of status between academic and vocational programs already are with us in the division between university entrance and general programs in present high school curriculum, Mr. Campbell said. "Educators who should know better and parents who try to know better tend to place the general program on a lesser educational plane," he said.

Improvements to the school program will be of little comfort to those already complaining about costs. The total education bill is going to be still higher, he predicted.

"I don't know what they are complaining about. The United States spends more on chewing gum than on education and I don't think it's much different in Canada," he said.

Junior High Scrapped

The Chant report on education has led to the scrapping of plans to build a $425,000 junior high school in Alberni and diversion of funds to elementary program.

Provincial cabinet yesterday approved a change in a new school bylaw approved already by voters.

Pool, Rink, Courts

Recreation Centre In Cowichan Plan

DUNCAN—Plans for the development of a private family club and recreation centre have been announced here.

Proposal is the result of several months of investigation and consideration by an eight-man committee which feels there is a definite need for such a club to serve the growing Cowichan district.

No cost figures were given but the proposed development will include a 50-by-25-foot heated swimming pool, tennis courts, gymnasium, skating rink, sports field suitable for a variety of outdoor sports and squash courts.

Comfortable clubhouse facilities will also be provided, with dining room, junior and senior lounges, men's and women's locker rooms, private dining room and a bar.

The project will be financed through family and individual membership fees. Target is 500 members.

Family membership will cost $440 cash or $500 if subscribed through five equal yearly installments. Single membership will be $300 cash or $336 over a five-year period. Monthly dues will be $10 per family. Single membership dues will be lower.

Among those enthusiastic about the project is former amateur tennis player and committee secretary Art Stevenson.

Idea of a family club is not new, he said. They have been springing up in many comparable areas in both Canada and the U.S. "Our plan is to offer something for mother, something for father and something for the kids. Desirable facilities that most families cannot afford for themselves but which can be built and operated successfully as a joint effort."

Other committee members are Cy Craig (chairman), Jeff Hunter, Paul Gerat, Joe Frummento, D. R. Williams, Hugh Farmer and T. H. Lines.

Hospital Sharing Disclosed

DUNCAN—A cost-sharing formula for financing construction of the new Cowichan District Hospital has been announced.

Cost to the four districts involved will be $1,583,963.

Cost by districts will be as follows: North Cowichan, $512,650; Duncan, $198,334; Lake Cowichan hospital improvement district, $327,980; Kokilaah district, $367,010.

VOTE IN JUNE

Total cost of the project, in the planning stage for the past six years, has not been disclosed but the balance will be provided by provincial and federal government grants.

Separate money bylaws will be put to ratepayers in the four districts early in June.

ADDED FLOOR

The new hospital, to be constructed on Gibbins Road, will replace the present outmoded King's Daughters' Hospital and will initially have 144 beds. However, the building is so designed that 38 beds can be added to a fourth floor shell. Structure is also designed for additional floors and could eventually be expanded to contain 350 beds.

School Bylaw Support Voted

Executive of the Elk Lake Ratepayers' Association has voted unanimously to support the $675,000 school building bylaw in district 63 that goes to the polls Saturday.

The executive felt adequate schools were essential to protect property values and provide for the needs of future citizens.

Runaway Lassie Definitely Non-Ewe

By BEA HAMILTON

FULFORD—A mule deer named Lassie has strayed away from the fields of her home at Beaver Point, so report the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Campbell.

Mr. Campbell, who is employed at Vancouver's Stanley Park, brought the young mule deer doe and a buck along with a smaller Coast deer, set them loose on their newly bought 120 acres at Beaver Point where the Campbells are starting a sanctuary for their pets, with the idea of crossing the mule deer with the Columbia Black Tail already on Salt Spring Island.

Lassie, the mule deer, may have taken things into her own hands (well, hoofs, if you prefer), with some crossing her self. She has been away for several weeks.

And her injured dignity may have led her into the bewildering and strange surroundings of the woods on Salt Spring Island. At last report, Lassie was believed seen near the hospital but by the time they arrived, says Mrs. Campbell, the deer had been frightened away.

Lassie is afraid of dogs and dislikes sheep. And one cannot blame Lassie—the mule deer has been provided by nature with a distinctive white rump and this is a target the old ewes just cannot resist.

Mama Ewe, with a lamb to protect, will come behind the unsuspecting mule deer with her woolly head down and—wham! she butts the poor mule deer to her indignant knees!

This keeps up until the exasperated deer finally leaves the field to the sheep.

Lassie came originally from Kamloops, where she was rescued from an accident and brought up on a bottle and hand fed. By the time she was properly recovered, she was too big to be put in the Stanley Park Zoo. And that's how Mr. Campbell got her, along with Nipper, the mule deer buck, and Tammy, a little Coast deer.

Lassie, by the way, got her name from the resemblance in her long visage to that of a Collie, so Mrs. Campbell says. And Lassie has a lovely figure and her ears are about 12 inches long.

And, with her distinctive white rump, this belle of the mule deer should be easily recognized.

Her long ears are black-tipped and are tagged for identification.

The Campbells, who are great animal and nature lovers, have a permit from the game department, but this does not allow them to fence in the pet deer. They feel that a large area fenced in would give the strange deer time to get used to the new surroundings and protect them from hunters and a cougar which is still at large on the island.

Most areas on Salt Spring are on the lookout for Lassie and reports can be phoned to Ganges 24W.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell are newcomers and have only been at Beaver Point for a month.

Boy in Coma After Bite At Mushroom

A deadly mushroom that invaded the Greater Victoria area this spring almost claimed its first victim yesterday.

Doctors at Royal Jubilee Hospital are fighting for the life of 18-month-old Roddie Walters of 547 Winthrop, Metchosin.

Roddie took two bites from a mushroom he found while playing in his front yard. Minutes later he was violently ill. Then he lapsed into a coma.

"SATISFACTORY"

Hospital authorities reported the boy's condition was satisfactory. He has regained consciousness, but will be kept in hospital for treatment and observation.

"It was lucky I came home from work when I did," said his father, Daniel Walters, a millworker.

Mr. Daniels rushed the youngster to Victoria city police station by car. From there, the police ambulance conveyed the boy to hospital.

VIOLENT SICKNESS

"I don't usually come right home from work," said Mr. Walters.

This time he decided to go right home.

There he found his wife treating young Roddie, who was violently ill.

"I thought at first he had an upset stomach, but his sickness was so violent, I decided to investigate."

The older children told him the boy had been playing alone in the front yard.

FOUND MUSHROOM

"I went outside to where he had been playing and I found this mushroom. It had several bites out of it."

"I phoned the doctor and he told me to rush Roddie to hospital."

WARNING REPEATED

He repeated the warning he made in the Colonist April 16.

"Once again I would warn the people of Greater Victoria to closely check lawns and wooded areas. These mushrooms should be destroyed and children warned not to touch them."

He said a small amount of the mushroom was sufficient to bring death.

Push Atlantic Trade Pearson Tells Nation

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Canada should take the lead in developing an Atlantic free trade area and not allow herself to be frozen out of overseas markets by isolation from the European free trade area, Liberal Leader Pearson said Wednesday night.

Canada cannot get out of its difficulties without expanded markets, he said.

"This is one area where we should show leadership. We should be at the forefront of an Atlantic development," he added.

High Cost of Bosses Union Answer to Clyne

If soaring wages cause unemployment, as MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River chairman J. V. Clyne recently claimed, then Mr. Clyne must be the "greatest single cause of unemployment in this province," a top union official said here last night.

E. P. O'Neal, secretary-treasurer of B.C. Federation of Labor, said in three years Mr. Clyne's salary has jumped from $19,000 as a Supreme Court judge to $75,000 a year he now earns—three times as much as the prime minister of Canada.

VANCOUVER (CP)—While no Canadian prime ministers are mentioned in some textbooks required in British Columbia schools, "our" Civil War and "our" president rate coverage.

This has come to light through a series of surveys conducted by various agencies as parents and educationists expressed growing concern about United States-produced textbooks in B.C. schools. An independent survey submitted to the Chant royal commission on B.C. education, came up with the following:

- No Canadian prime minister is mentioned in a Grade 10 history text.
- A Grade 6 social studies text says India has a viceroy.
- Spellers used in Grades

- 7, 8 and 9 show a marked difference in spelling from accepted Canadian practice.
- A Grade 11 text entitled "Representative Short Stories" contains 15 stories by United States authors and the remaining seven by British, French, Danish and Swedish writers.
- A Grade 9 geography textbook says Ocean Falls receives less rain than Victoria.
- Another social studies

book speaks of the U.S. president as "our president."

- A history text called "Our World, Renaissance to Modern Times" mentions "our own war between the states," a grand jury system not used in Canada and gives extensive coverage to the Second World War but mentions only two British generals against four Americans.

The books are prescribed by the B.C. education department. A department official has said American texts are carefully screened and revised before they are published in Canada. But a submission to the Chant commission said of "Our World":

"Nowhere in the text is there any hint of criticism of U.S. policy. The implication would seem to be that from its inception the U.S. has been motivated by the truest altruism in all its dealings.

"All of the U.S. actions take place on a high moral plane. They are justified by the highest motives in an unerring instinct of right."

The Chant commission recommended that the department of education consider producing its own textbooks if those supplied by commercial publishers are not improved.

U.S. ARMS READY TO AID VIET NAM

Order Issued By Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy's meetings with the National Security Council have confirmed his decision to do whatever is necessary to help South Viet Nam win its undeclared war with Communist guerrilla invaders, authoritative sources reported yesterday.

Kennedy has sent assurances to South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem that the United States is prepared to order its armed forces into action if that finally should become necessary.

The possibility that Southeast Asia Treaty Organization forces might have to aid Viet Nam also has been discussed here and at SEATO's Bangkok headquarters. But officials emphasized this was not a proposal for immediate decision.

Military Aid Boosted

Steps to help South Viet Nam, which borders troubled Laos, are being taken however.

U.S. military aid to Diem's 150,000-man army is being increased by about $40,000,000 with emphasis on planes, river boats and other transport.

The objective is to increase the army's mobility in fighting the hit-and-run forces and intercepting their supply and troop reinforcements from Communist North Viet Nam.

On the political front, the Kennedy administration plans to focus world attention on the guerrilla war. Secretary of State Dean Rusk is expected to raise the issue at the 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos, scheduled to open May 12. Action at the United Nations also has been considered by some of his advisers.

U.S. Rejects Risk

Kennedy's policy decision over, that country's geographic position made a neutral compromise the best available choice. But administration officials reject India's view that neutralism is the road to peace for all South-east Asia.

Kennedy was said to be particularly determined to take a strong stand in dealing with the Communist threat to South Viet Nam. He wants to reassure America's small allies and warn the Communist bloc that the story of Laos will not be repeated elsewhere in Southeast Asia.

The president's position was described as a determination to back up U.S. promises to help defend small nations which want to defend themselves.

This key ingredient has been missing in Laos. More

High-School Addiction 'Shock' in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—The said Wednesday there are about 200 addicts in Vancouver under the age of 21.

Gene Elmore expressed shock at the number of young persons being exposed to illegal narcotics.

He said a questionnaire circulated among 330 high school students aged 15 to 18 showed:

- 49.3 per cent admitted they had had the opportunity to use heroin and 56 per cent of this group said they had the opportunity while drinking;

- 37.4 per cent of the 15-year-old girls and 20.9 per cent of the 17-year-old boys said they saw no harm in using heroin occasionally;

- 47.9 per cent of the 16-year-old boys, 38.9 per cent of the 17-year-old girls and 66.6 per cent of the 18-year-old boys said they knew where they could get a drug supply if they needed it;

Crises Sap Adlai

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, after "three lively months" as chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations, sometimes longs for the good old days.

Stevenson told a luncheon meeting yesterday: "What with the Congo, Cuba, Korea and now Laos, I sometimes yearn for the simple brutality of bipartisan politics."

'Canada's Record Not So Clean On Racial Policy'

Canadians must never take a sanctimonious attitude of virtue when it comes to condemning South Africa's racial policies, Dr. Hugh Keenleyside told a joint meeting of the men's and women's Canadian Clubs here yesterday.

"We have never—and we should be thankful for it—been faced with the kind of problem that the white settlers of South Africa have had to meet," he said. "If we had been our response might have been no better."

WITH REGRET?

Dr. Keenleyside, chairman of the B.C. Power Commission and former director-general of the United Nations' technical assistance administration, said South Africa's decision to withdraw from the Commonwealth had to be accepted by the other Commonwealth members.

"We do not, of course, know all that went on at the meeting of the prime ministers in London last March," he said. "But I do hope and believe that our representative there did what he had to do with regret and with no sanctimonious professions of Canadian virtue."

NOT ENVIALE

Canada itself did not have an enviable record.

"Our record in dealings with our own Indians has many dark passages," he said.

"And can we be really proud of our immigration policy which maintains almost unscalable barriers against persons of color, even when they are citizens of Commonwealth nations?"

"Can we honestly suggest that our clubs and better residential areas are open on equal terms and without protest to all our people regardless of color, race or religious affiliation?"

"For social purposes in Canada it is more acceptable to believe in no God than to worship God under the wrong auspices. And if your skin is dark you can be banned from a Canadian hotel, although it is illegal, even if you are Dr. Ralph Bunche," he said.

Labor Gets Racial Plea

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy asked labor leaders yesterday to end union restrictions that discriminate against Negroes.

He made the appeal at a meeting of union officials called by his committee on equal employment opportunity. Kennedy appealed Tuesday to 50 of the nation's biggest defense contractors to drop racial restrictions in hiring and promotion.
